The 1957
INDIAN

Anderson High School

Anderson, Indiana

Mr. Claude (Doc) Barner, age 64, AHS printing instructor, who died October 22, 1956.

In Remembrance of

They were two of a kind. Both were small in stature, but possessed of untiring energy. One produced all-American yearbooks; the other outstanding athletes; both can lay claim to developing all-American boys.

Mr. Carl Bonge and Mr. Claude Barner will always occupy a special niche in Anderson's Hall of Fame in the place where duty and service to youth is uppermost.

Doc Barner loved his work and especially his cantankerous flat-bed press on which he printed the yearbook for more than 30 years.

Two Fine Educators

Mr. Bonge's trademarks were a battered hat, a stopwatch, and a black notebook, which held notes on every boy who ever ran for AHS.

Mr. Carl Bonge, age 56, athletic director and coach at AHS, who died February 20, 1957.

The quiet winter snow muffled the sounds of activity in the halls of AHS.

1400... With Elbow Room

On Opening Day Something Was Missing . . .

The familiar Lincoln Street entrance, with only a scattering of students, was one of the first signs of the decrease in population.

Volunteers in the new bookstore like Mona Clem, Dallas Young, and Judy Coon, still have their hands full as students exchange summer paychecks for winter textbooks.

In the depths of the sub-basement at least four girls, Sandra Fisher, Barbara Diedring, Glenda Cheatham, and Barbara Ross, enjoy shopping for a bargain in the used book store, manned by Tom Tappan on opening day.

1200 of the 2600 Students of Last Year

Although there is nothing like a summer vacation, one usually looks forward to that first day of school when everyone is back in the same boat again. But this time, it seemed that either the school was larger or there were a lot fewer people. The case was the latter, but once aboard, the chatter seemed to be just as loud, and the cheerful greetings were just as exciting.

Because of the new Madison Heights Township High School and the newly adopted 6:3:3 system, 1200 of the original gang of 2600 were gone. But even though they were missed at first, there were certainly advantages! So much less time was spent buying books, classes were started on time, and best of all—elbow room!

Although AHS has six entrances, the 13th Street door is still the traditional main passageway at morning, noon, and night.

An early bird, Mike Maine, is alone in the long corridors of AHS just 30 minutes before the school day begins and the 1400 students pour into the building.

Classes and Places of Study Occupied

"Study or TV?" asks Joy Giddens. Students fought this battle many times and usually settled for a combination of both.

AHS's famous concert band strikes up traditional melodies in their new ultra-modern band room.

New Locations

As AHS students walked through the doors into the school for the first time this year, there were many changes, but probably the most notable was the many new room locations. Classes were switched as part of a plan to concentrate all high school departments.

Study hall, once a supposedly quiet place, now buzzes with the clicks of typewriters and the scratching of shorthand pencils. The business department was transferred to the entire third floor of the annex.

The vocal music department pushed the instrumentalists out of the old annex into a new, roomy, soundproof practice room. Equipped with the latest conveniences, the room provides an excellent atmosphere for instrumentalists to play at their best.

The once-was English room is now showered with greenery as the agriculture boys moved in. The publications staffs have room to breathe in their spacious new quarters. Biology rooms have more space for displaying specimens, and that dusty old skeleton finally came out of its closet to be used full-time in the psychology room.

Keith Hamilton, Ruth Bender, and Andy Goodson have discovered that the shade of the old maple tree on the front lawn is the ideal spot to prepare tomorrow's homework.

The X-Ray editors now have room to breathe in Room 19 as they hustle to meet the next deadline.

Black clouds hover over AHS as the school anchors itself for another mid-winter snow storm.

Students Adapted to a Year of Change

Bob Stoner and Dee Anderson try broad jumping to avoid wet feet on a spring day.

One might think that since the student body was cut practically to one-half its original size, the traffic would decrease. However, the mufflers, horns, and restless wheels rumble loudly at noon hour and after school is dismissed. The parking lot fills and empties as always.

Observing generally, one would smile at the carefree teen-agers, but individually, they, like the weather and traffic, remain unpredictable.

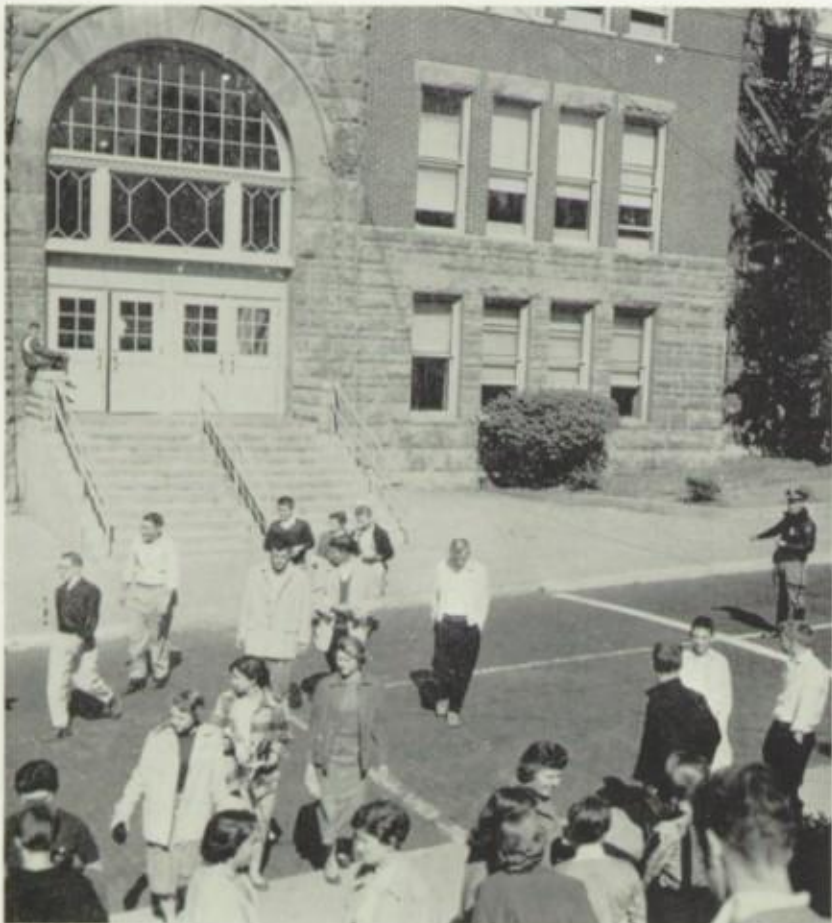

Tall stories have their beginnings at gatherings like these during the short wait before the lunch hour ends.

Despite Unforeseen Weather, Traffic, Moods

Daydreamers and those in love are well protected by the ever-present traffic policeman on 13th Street.

Seeking shelter under their umbrellas from a sudden spring shower as they wait for the noon bell to ring are Nancy Skinner, Sharon Poore, Sheila Hornbeck, and Sherry Baker.

The traditional meeting place for cokes and conversation is the candy stand where Janet Crim struggles under the counter while serving Marlene Tuterow and Karen Kelley.

Meeting Places Were Many and Unusual

Hoping to worm its way through the sectional (right picture) was the prize-winning caterpillar built by Homeroom 205 and propelled by Dick Pugh, Bob McNatt, Frank Martin, Jerry Metz, Rick Williams, Melanie Martin, Bob Porter and Tom Smith.

Education Seeped Through, Sugar-Coated

The "Four Jaguars", Marilyn Bryant, accompanist, Mike Maine, Dave Clem, Jim Barbre, and Frank Thompson, harmonize during the Christmas Convocation.

Mardoni, master of extra-sensory perception, has Don Bennett mystified as to the secret of the rings.

Mike Johnson chalks up two points in a hilarious comic game in which the Hi-Y Club did their share in pushing school spirit to a peak. Other contestants were Ronnie Achor, Jerry Sale, Rick Williams, Jerry Hale, and Pat Lee.

Or Otherwise

The breaks from routine that were always anticipated were the pep sessions and convos. The first convo of the year came as quite a shock—once everyone had taken his seat—for it was then that the fact that 1000 students were gone was fully realized. No longer were there people packed clear to the rafters on all four sides of the gym! Instead, only two sides were filled—and even then, there were empty seats and a few empty rows.

The convos this year provided a variety of interest and entertainment for the students. For example, Dr. Glenn Cunningham, a former record-breaking mile runner, spoke; a demonstration of Extra Sensory Perception was given; and several other speakers high-lighted the convocations.

When football season began, pep-sessions got underway. Students poured into the gym as the band's music promoted spirit. It seemed that 1400 students could yell louder than 2600! The pep-sessions were of exciting variety, and each one spurred the spirit onward—to back the Indians and cheer them on to victory.

Homecoming Night Brought a Popular Queen

In a General Motors town, what could be more appropriate than a Cadillac-load of classy cheerleaders leading the Homecoming parade to Denny Field?

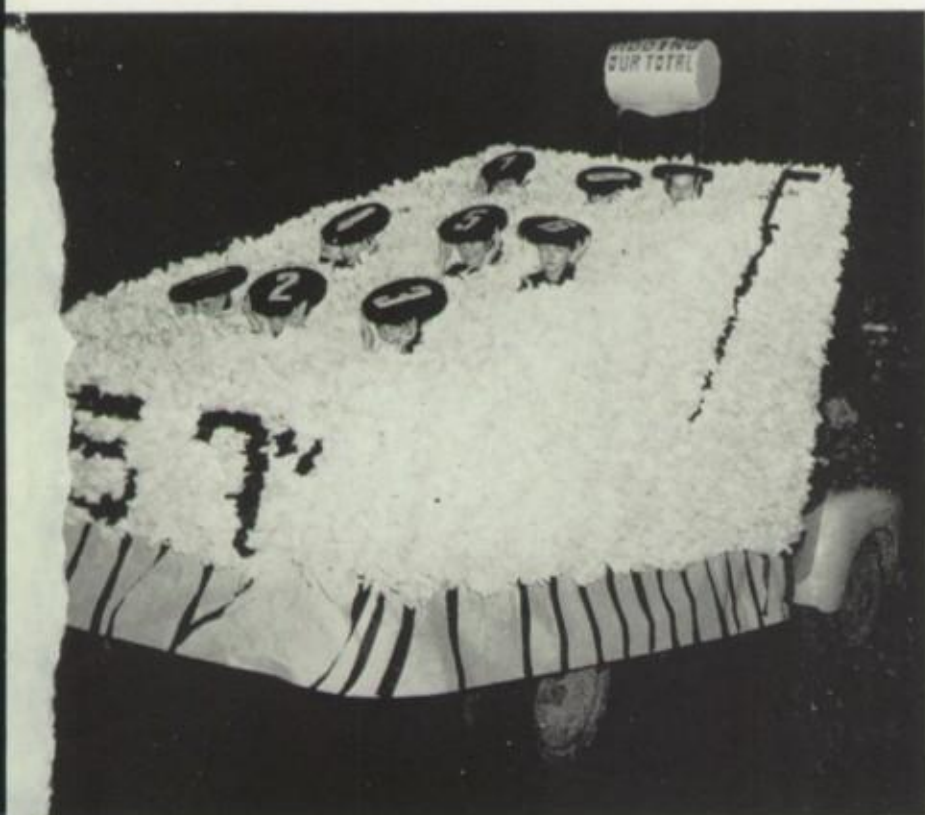

A beautiful queen, a parade to rival that of the Rose Bowl, and a sensational victory on the gridiron all went into the ingredients for this year's Homecoming. The giant parade which wound through the entire downtown area was one of the most elaborate of the past few years. Competition was high among the many club and class floats, and individually decorated cars added much color to the event.

The crowning of Judy Hancock as Homecoming Queen of 1957 was the highlight of the activities at Denny Field. The queen and her attendants were entertained at half time by a show fit for royalty put on by the famous AHS marching band. AHS's thrilling 34 to 7 victory over the Howe Hornets was the climax to the night's events.

Fantastic Floats, and a Football Victory

The float built by the class of '57 ranked first in the homecoming parade. This senior float symbolized an adding machine, totaling up the points scored by the Indians.

"Lick those Hornets!" was the slogan of the second place winner, Latin Club. In a candy-land setting, the Indians showed how they were going to "lick" the Howe Hornets.

AHS Talent Gained the Theatrical Spotlight

One of the highlights of the 1957 Band Variety Show was a clever interpretation of the Irish Jig, done in celebration of St. Patrick's Day, by the majorettes. Front row girls are Judy Reed, Judy Harris, Norma Southers, and Marjorie Ellis. Shown in the second row are Joyce Brown, Dorothy Hitch, and Nora Sylvester.

The cast of the Thespian play, "Seven Sisters," gathers in the living room of the family of the seven sisters. Standing are Bill Rowland, Jane Ann Ford, Lucy Myers, Ronnie Clark, Bob France, Joan Whelan, Ann Gehrke, Doug Dronberger, Michael Dunn, and Roger Adcock. Seated are Carolann Hoppes, Mona Clem, Pat Harl, and Mary Livingston.

For the first time since Miss Alice Higman has directed the senior class play, the setting is out-of-doors. Members of the cast studying the patio (top left) of the palatial Long Island home are Dee Anderson, Veronica Trees, Bob France, Sherry Page, and Lee Ann Patton. Dorothy Hitch and Mary Livingston try to distract Dave Bennett, Toni Henricks, and Ruth Barr (top right) as they run through one of the outstanding scenes of the play. Chuck Shaffer, Bill Rowland, and Chuck Lowe (lower left) examine Barbara Huffman's leg, hurt in a make-believe bad fall. The four had leads in the play. Members of the stage crew (lower right), Bob Stoner, Julian Hudson, LeRoy Shields, and Bill Neff take time out for a theatrical joke above the stage.

Each year the talent of AHS shines forth as the many organizations of the school present outstanding entertainment for the community. These performances bring to light the abilities and talents developed in our on classrooms.

The first of the 1956-57 entertainment season was the Thespian play "Seven Sisters." Early in the spring came the spectacular band variety show, an hour and a half of Hollywood-like extravaganza. This year the show played to an audience of more than 5,000 people.

The last theater billing of the year was the traditional senior class play, a comedy "Sabrina Fair." The play was again not merely a performance, but a link in permanent high school institution.

The drama of the Thespian play was heightened by the flamboyant costumes worn for a masquerade party. In one scene Bill Rowland, Ronnie Clark, Bob France, and Lucy Myers emote.

The Fall Windup Dance, honoring the cross-country and football teams, was the annual opening of the social season. Linda Stanley, selected as queen, is surrounded by Keith Hamilton, football co-captain; Melanie Martin, attendant; Jane Ann Ford, attendant, and Jerry Hardacre, cross-country captain.

Queens Personified Typical High School Coed

One of the highlights of "An Evening in Paris," (left picture) a dance given for the benefit of crippled children and Hungarian relief, was the crowning of the queen, Sue Ackerman, by Mayor Ralph Ferguson. Attendants were Beth Sample and Marilyn Hill. Judy Johnson proudly accepts the flowered crown which was presented to her by Virginia Bales at the Silver Bell.

Smiling with pride is Ann Adams, Anderson High's first yearbook queen as she is being crowned by co-editors of the annual, Ronnie Campbell and Fran Wagner.

For the first time in history, the students at AHS elected a queen of the yearbook. Modeled after the Purdue and Indiana yearbook queens, the AHS queen personified the typical high school girl.

This year's queen, Ann Adams, was selected from a group of nine candidates nominated by homerooms with 100 per cent yearbook sales. The queen, who was crowned at an all-school convocation, was one of the very few queens to be elected by students from all classes in the high school.

Prom Goers Relived Grandeur of Old South

Adelia Drake, Attendant

The great confederacy of the South rose and then declined all in the one evening of June 7, 1957—the night of the Junior-Senior Prom. Bringing to light the plantation days of a century ago, the juniors presented a "Grande Cotillion," modeled after those of the pre-Civil War days.

Just as the southern belles of the era waltzed on the verandas among the magnolias and colonades, the belles of AHS danced with their gentlemen in the southern garden scene setting. All the chivalry and grandeur of the South were relived in the one evening.

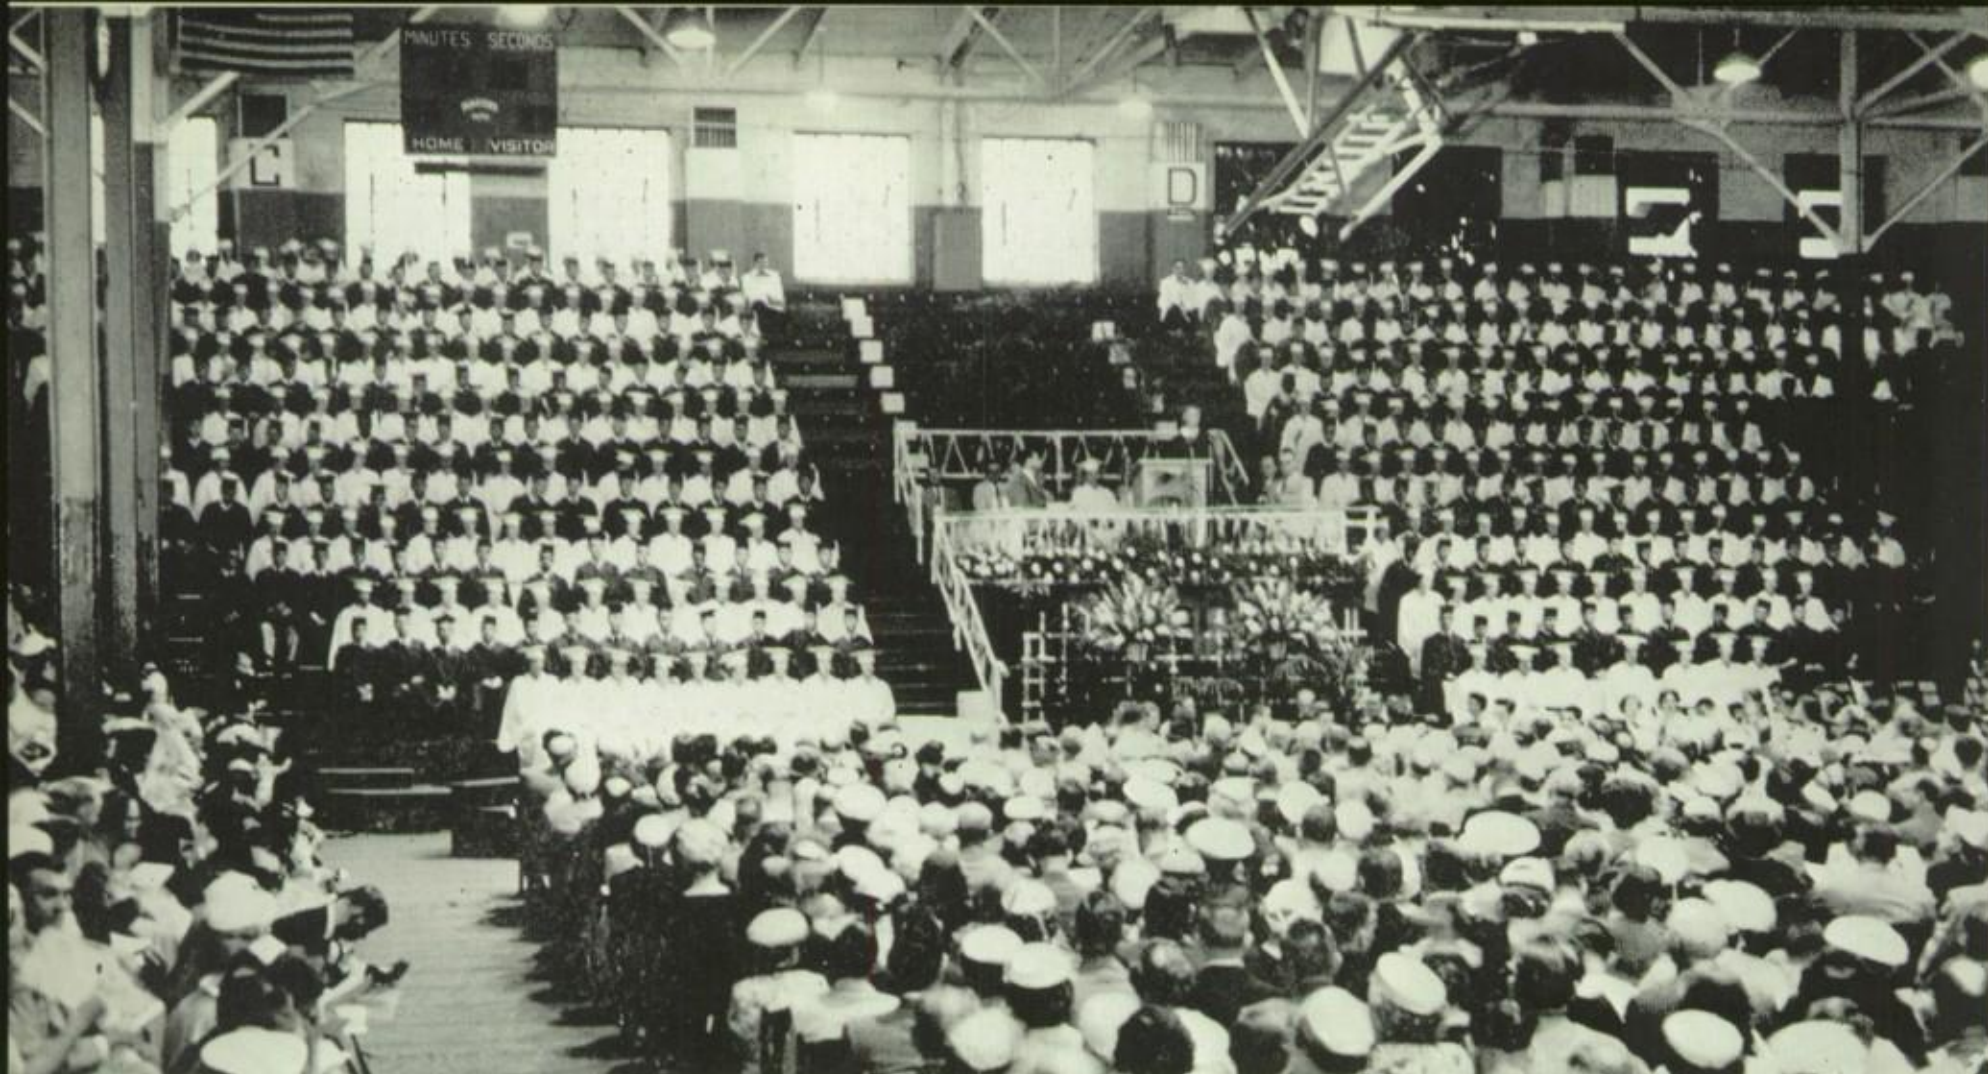

Highlighting the ball was the crowning of the Cotillion queen, Linda Stanley. Followed by her attendants, Ann Adams and Adelia Drake, the queen and her escort led the grand march of southern ladies, colonels, and gentlemen.

Listening intently to the commencement speech are the parents and friends of the graduates at the traditional commencement ceremonies. It is at this time the seniors feel closer to each other than ever before.

Graduation Brought Tears, an End to Cords,

Graduation is a time of fond memories and mixed emotions at Anderson High School. Even the most hard-boiled of the seniors has a tear to offer to the week that begins with Baccalaureate and ends with Commencement.

For the graduating seniors, the Baccalaureate and Commencement are not only looked upon as the end of high school, but as the beginning of a life that will soon unfold before them. At this time of mixed emotions, graduates reminisce over the occasions which led up to the night of June 13, 1957.

"An apple a day" keeps the speaking voices of these four seniors in top shape. Selected to act as this year's commencement speakers are Mike Maine, Ann Davis, Dave Clem, and Judy Coon.

Diana Watson and Jim Barbre model their caps and gowns for the senior class sponsors, Mr. John Finney and Miss Lois Long.

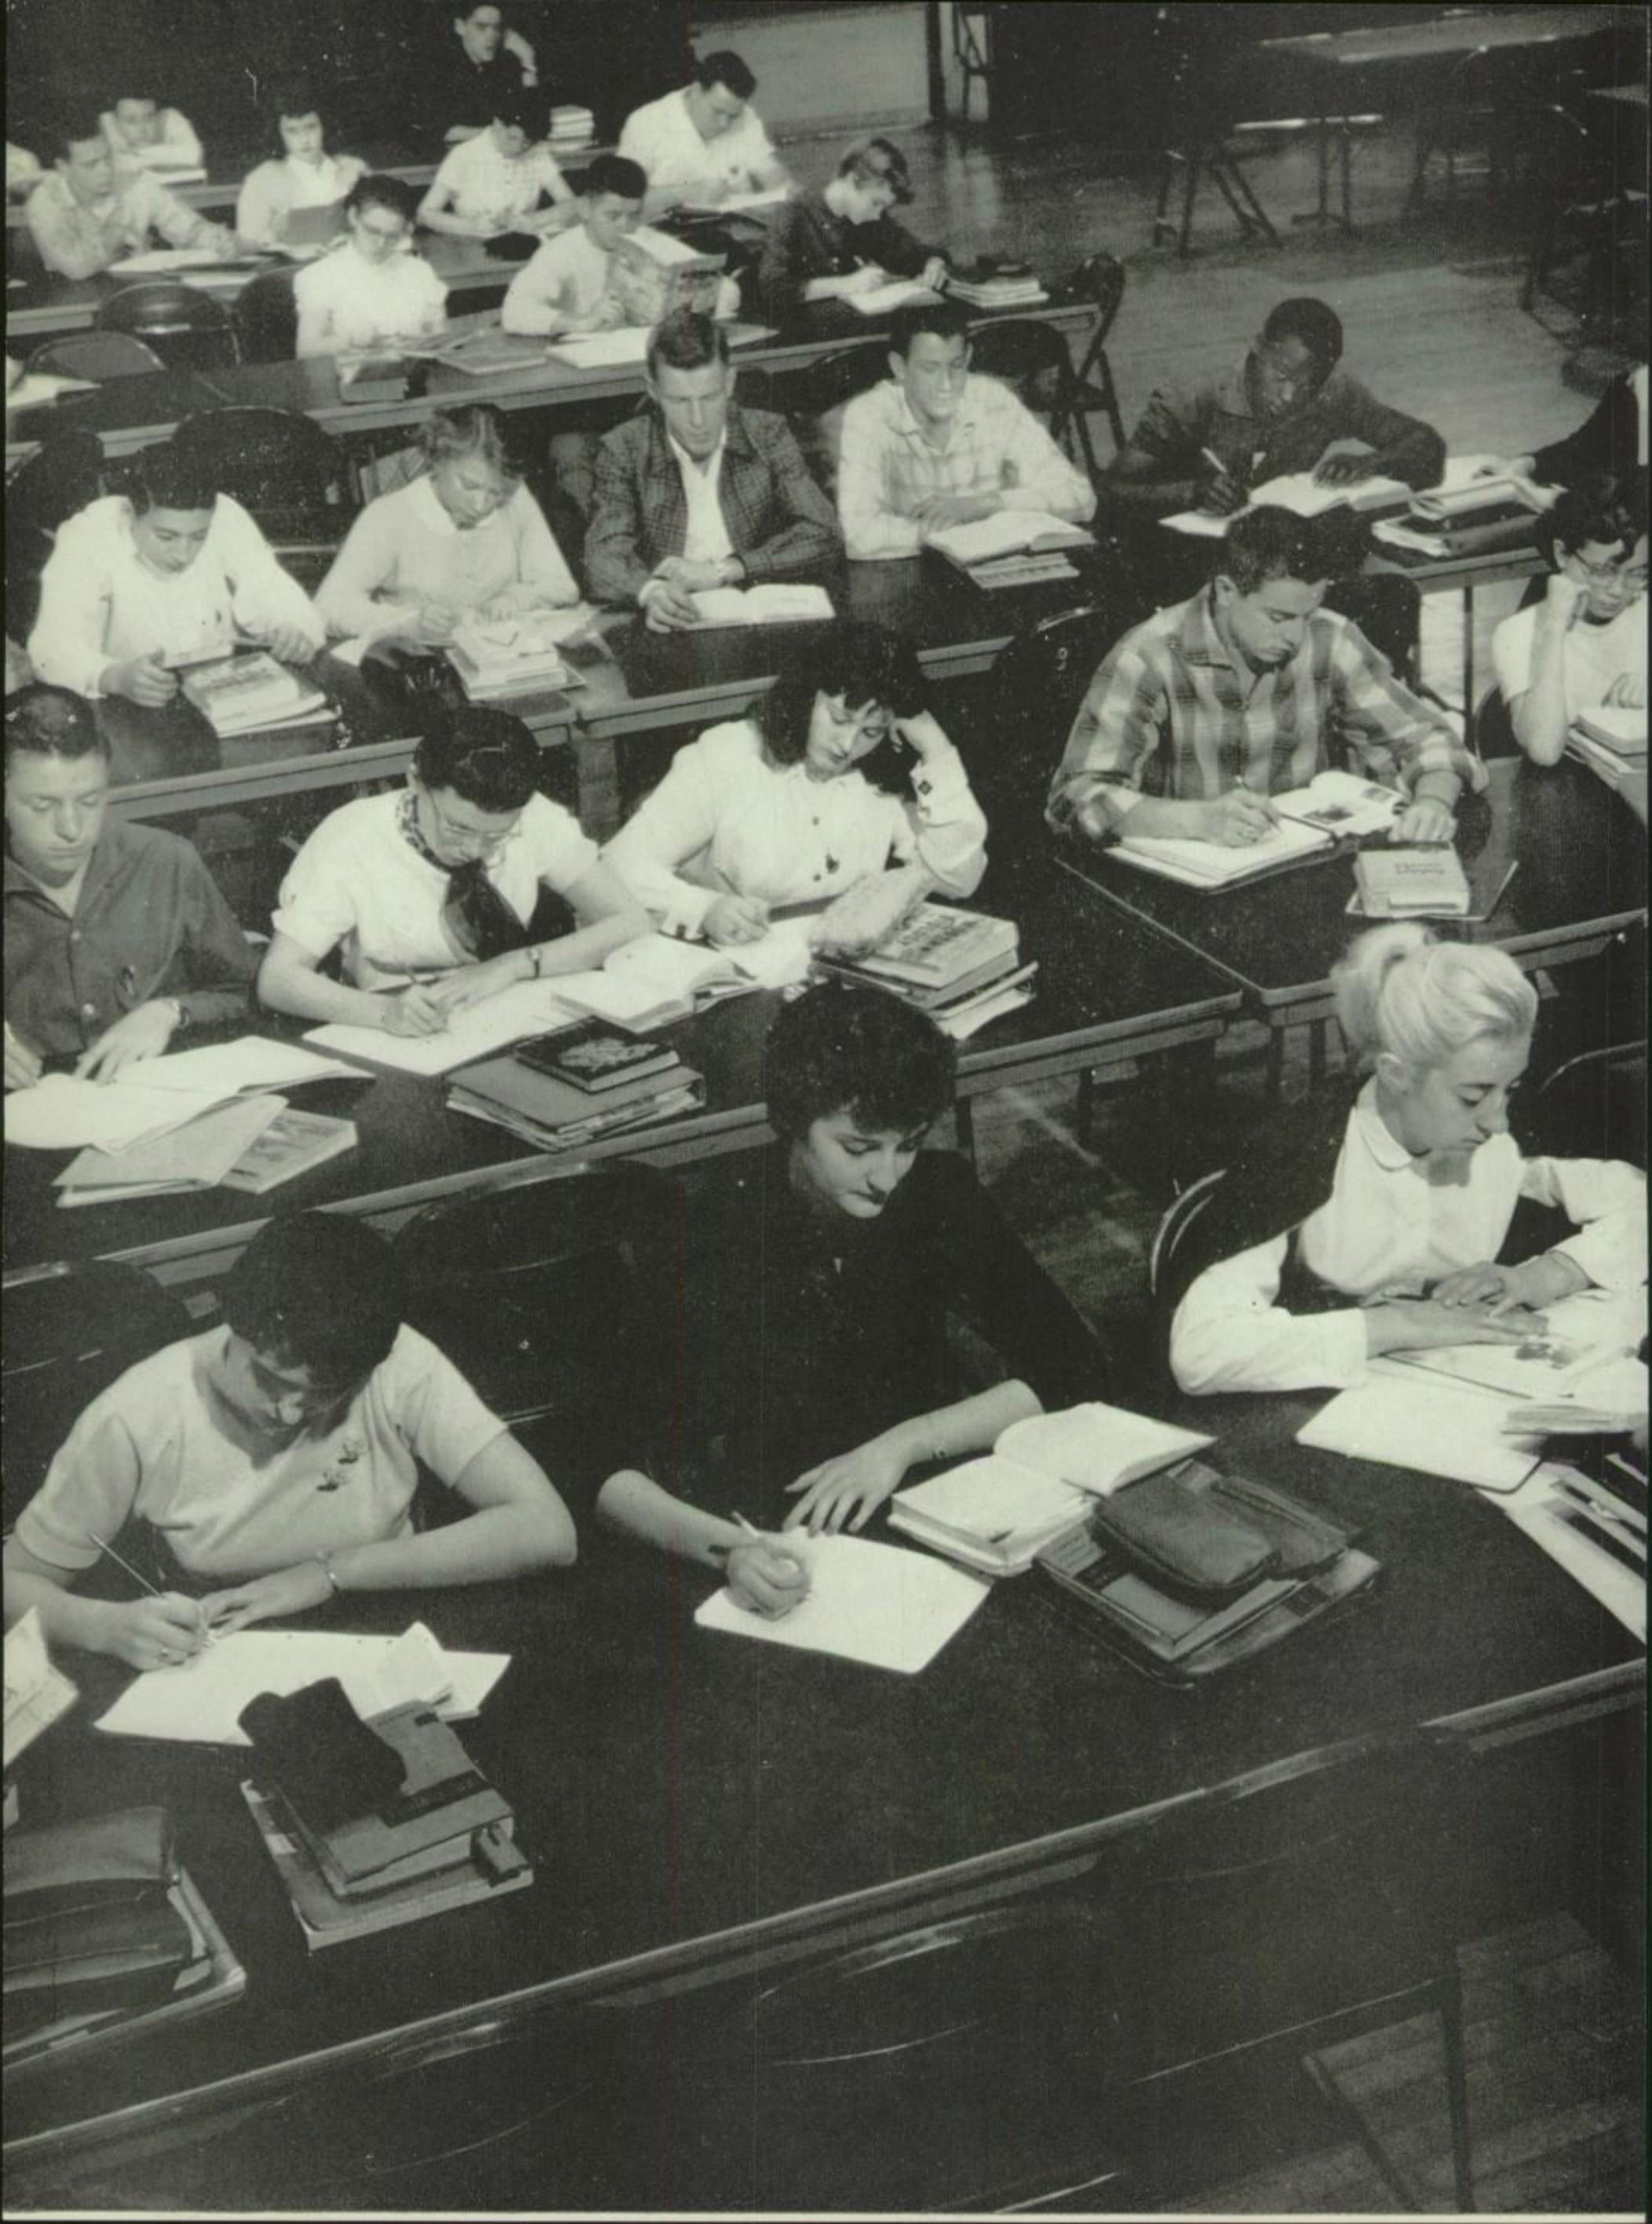

Thursday was the most popular day for wearing senior cords and skirts. Leaving the gym are seniors Linda Wilson, Jean Anne Teush (front), Dave Clem, Chuck Lowe, and Frank Thompson.

Caps and Gowns, and the Start of Adult Life

Realizing that this may be the last time they will see their fellow classmates, the graduates of the class of '56 sing their farewell song at the senior talent show. They have been gone a year, but are not forgotten.

Personalities

Whether from the faculty to the student, or from the student to faculty, a small—but complex—government is organized. Regardless of size, the system remains an important one—both to the administration and the student. This year 1200 students left the school through graduation or transfer, but the 1400 remaining ones still keep the faculty busy. Teachers had time, however, to get to know students better.

The responsibilities of both groups are great, and their closer relationship becomes invaluable. Beginning with the student body, which seeks comradeship and instruction, proceeding to the homeroom teacher, class instructor, on through the principal, superintendent, and board of trustees, our high school government is the threshold of the future.

Love isn't the only thing that makes the world go 'round as is shown by Mr. John Garrigus to John Chambers, Jerry Carpenter, and Phil Shearer in physical science class as a demonstration of a planetarium progresses.

A Modern High School Inspires Students

"The madreporite is right . . . here." Larry Burton is pointing out a starfish's different structures. Trying to absorb as much as possible from zoology are Roger Roudebush, Mr. W. Leo Sanders, Shirley Wellons, and David Miller.

"Oh, those Bunsen burners!" Nancy Barron and Carolyn Carr experiment with metric scales, test tubes, and basic formulae in physics class.

Within the next fifty years, the world will see the most drastic changes in the scientific field that has ever been known by man. Work will be plentiful, and highly-trained technicians will be needed for the better-paying jobs. High school is the starting point.

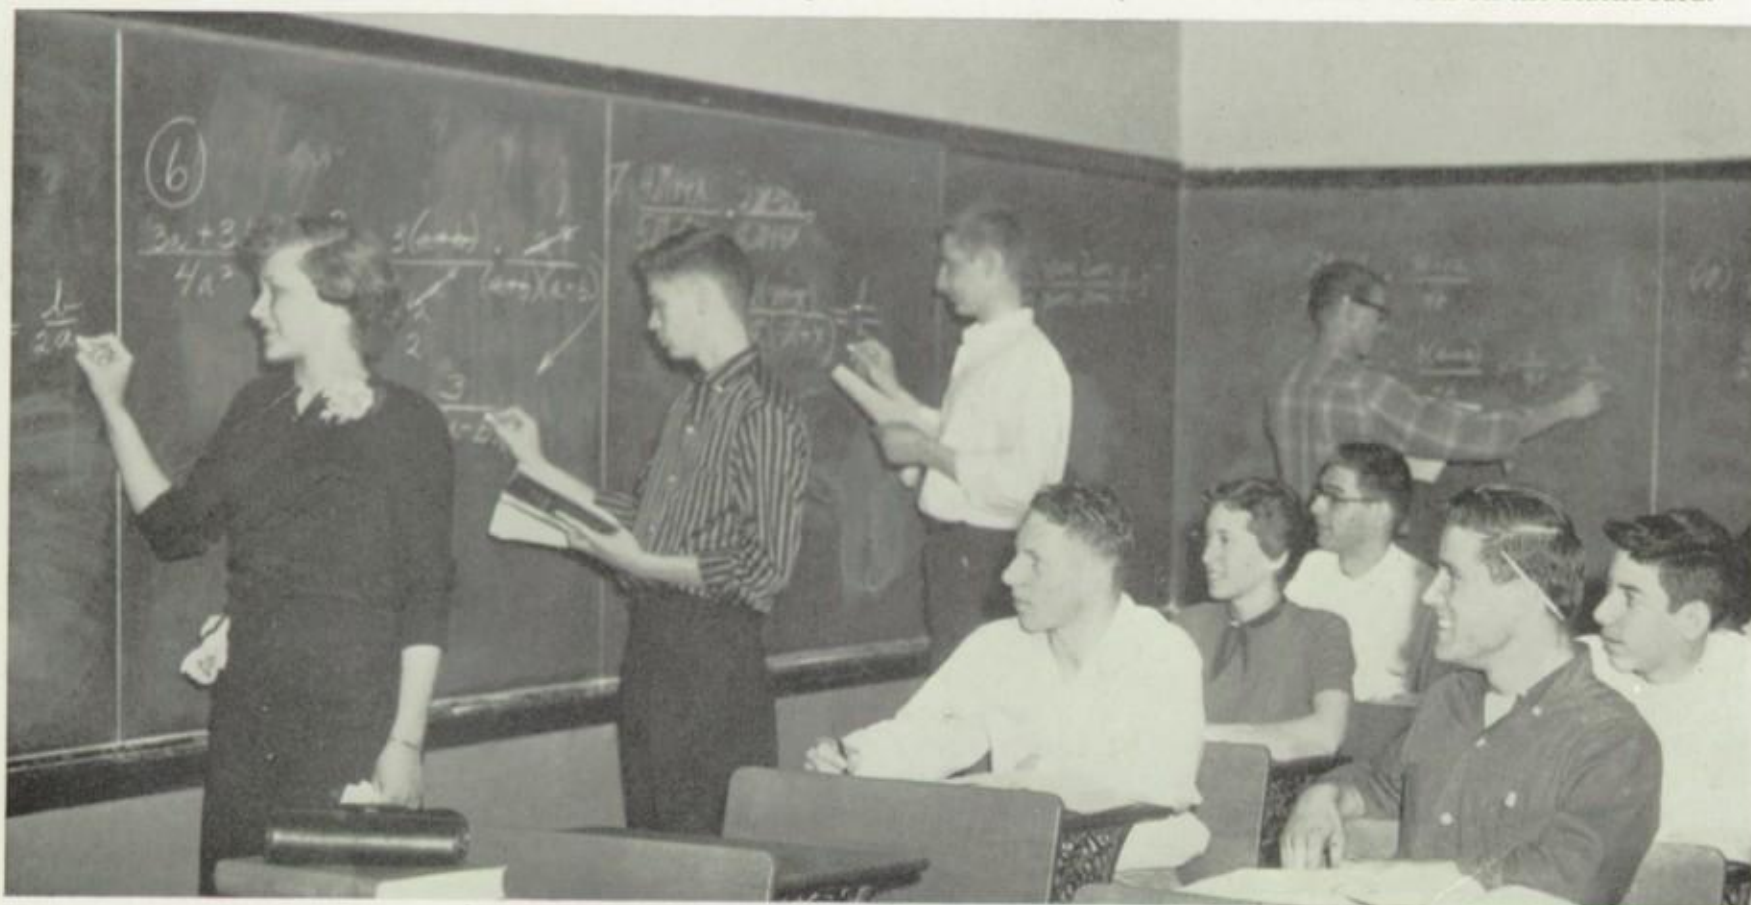

Technical studies are the tools of tomorrow's mathematicians and scientists. Even today, there is a great need for skilled people to work with the pioneers on the research plane. Engineers, chemists, physicists, and many other specialists are the products of the present high school curriculum. Perhaps one of AHS's students will find a cure for heart disease; maybe someone will construct a rocket that will travel to distant planets. The world of tomorrow is a world of opportunities.

"Anyone for a squid in formaldehyde?" Janice Byrum and Sandy Crosthwaite have their minds on one in biology class.

On a High Plane

In 957 A.D., the basis of everyday life was music and art. Today, ten centuries later, it is still true. And at AHS many courses are offered to stress the knowledge of the fine arts. Although Anderson High may not produce a Grandma Moses, Rockwell, or Gershwin, it will graduate people who already have a foot-hold in the art world.

Language, being a communicative cousin of art, is the connecting rod between nations. AHS has one ancient and two modern languages—and all are important in literature and other related subjects.

The arts are often thought of as being entirely "long hair," but even a well-rounded high school student needs the artful knowledge gained in the classrooms at AHS.

Mrs. Paula Lawson, Shirley Beaver, David Luck, and Bill Raymore romp through the classics as part of the study in music appreciation class.

The Louvre may not be the main objective in these young artists' lives (top picture), but their constant study on art assists in their success. "Back straight, stomach in, chest out!" This isn't the army, but Stephanie Hoppes (lower picture) gets posture practice by using a book atop her head in speech class. Ralph Worley and Anita Glaze also strive for improvements under the direction of Miss Alice Higman.

A pencil sharpens the wits.

A check insures that a neighbor's answers are correct.

A chapter closed . . . forever?

With Democracy as the Hope of Tomorrow

Melanie Martin and Alice Fishback, representatives of the Future Teachers, use off-beat laboratory work—the laboratory being the first grade at Shadeland School.

"Would you like to buy" Bessie Mitchell and Mike Goldsmith demonstrate to Mr. Warren Park, Miss Barbara Penry, and Mr. R. C. Beebe, Distributive Education advisors, their knowledge of the technique of selling.

Even with their studies and extra-curricular activities, high school students find time to assist in the moral and structural progress of the community.

They may do so by supporting the local and national charity drives. This year some of AHS's students helped to mail March of Dimes folders. Other students raised funds for Christmas dinners for needy families. The Heart Fund, the Cancer Crusade, and many other drives received enthusiastic support.

The motivating beat of Anderson is its factories, and some teens secured jobs at the various industries on a night shift. This extra job helped defray their expenses, gave them employment experience, and helped to dispell the growing attitudes that juveniles are naturally delinquent.

If the teenager learns the importance of community living, he not only benefits, but the community benefits as well.

Mr. John Scott and Mary Beth Grimes take in the hall scenes at AHS on Parents Visitation Day.

AHS Concentrates on Promoting Citizenship

With eyes looking to graduation and to the life afterwards, the students at AHS study the various phases of government and politics. They look behind the visible workings of civil government into the complex innards. Taking such subjects as civics, American problems, and U.S. history, the student learns the differences between the beliefs of the totalitarian and democratic governments.

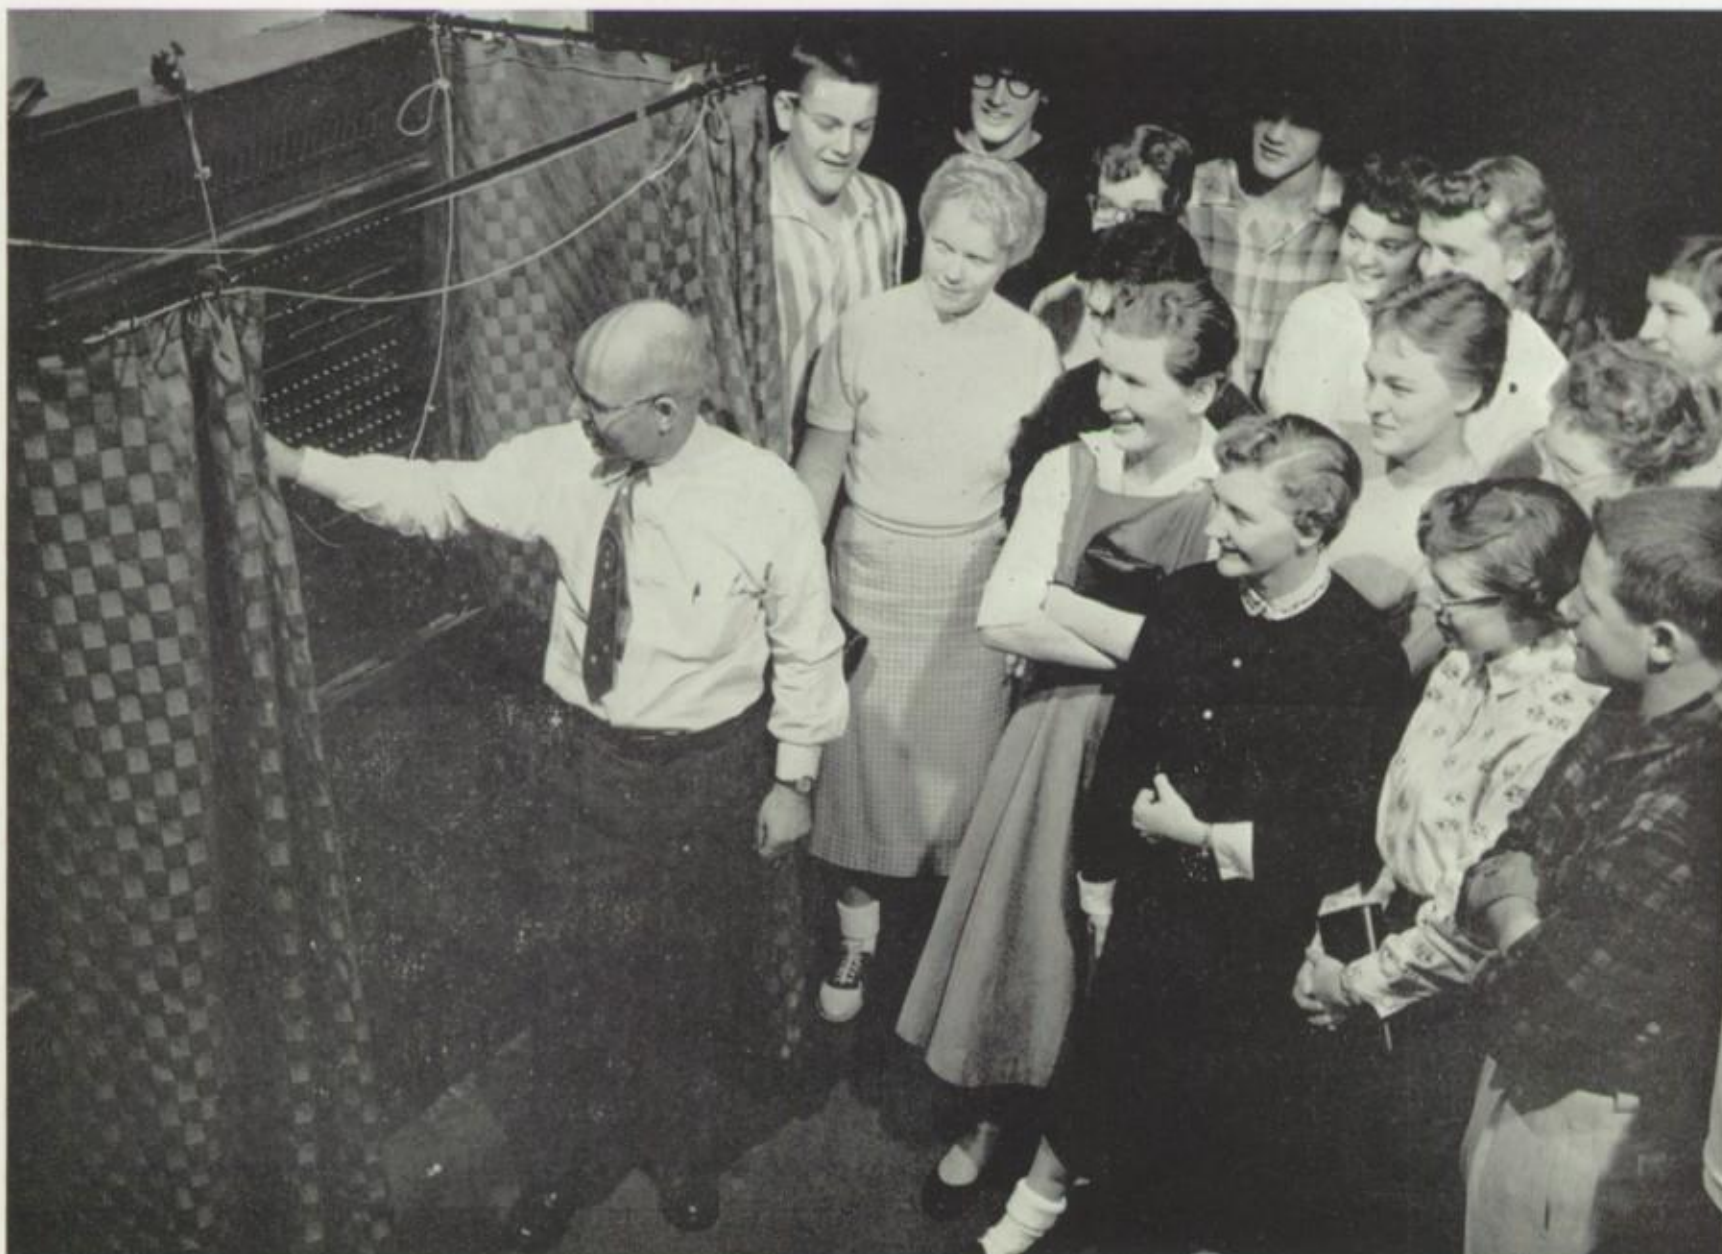

Behind the dark green curtain of the recently acquired voting machine, social studies students cast their votes for national candidates. Here, the individual does not have to be 21 to be able to vote for his favorite nominee. The election was an instrument of expression for the high school student.

The voting machine, along with current documentary films, textbooks, and classroom discussion, aids in the future citizenship of today's teenager—tomorrow's voter.

Rocks, rocks, and more rocks take up the concentration power of Mr. John Finney, Farrell Riley, and Tom Smith in the conservation class.

Mr. J. J. Bailey demonstrates to his civics class students the technique of using the voting machine.

Mrs. Wilbur DuBois leaves her child in the care of Ardella Larue as she visits AHS classes on Visitation Day. The Home Economics department conducted a school nursery for the younger children on this day.

Labor, according to the dictionary, is "bodily toil for the sake of gain or economic production." The Home Economics, Business Education, and Trades and Industry courses train people for the white and blue collar jobs that are so necessary for the maintenance of the nation's democracy.

The T. & I. classes prepare boys for production and engineering jobs in factories that build the foundation for our country's economic status. The Business Education classes include such subjects as shorthand, typing, and retailing. The retailing course gives the students opportunities to work in Anderson's stores and factories. The girls in Home Economics classes gain a good start toward several life vocations by learning the duties of the kitchen and sewing room.

With the assistance of the knowledge gained in these courses, the lives of future adult American citizens will be built upon a sturdy foundation.

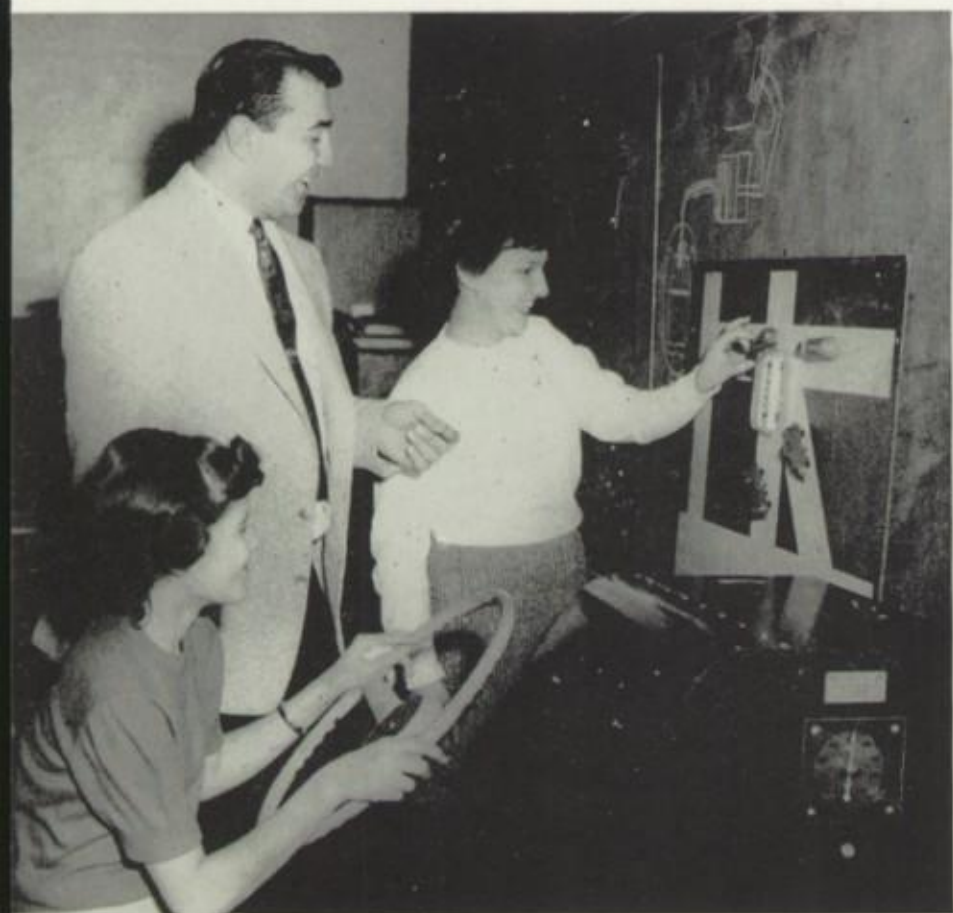

Classes Seek to Mold Solid Wage Earners

ANDERSON BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES—Seated—Mr. Wilbur Roby, treasurer; Miss Gertrude Plotner, clerk of the board; Mrs. Margaret Knight, secretary; Mr. Gordon France, board member. Standing—Mr. James Allen, business manager; Mr. Lee Fidler, school city attorney; Mr. William Hovermale, president; Mr. Sydney Williams, board member; Mr. G. E. Ebbertt, superintendent of schools.

Behind the smoothly-running school schedule lies a system of gears and wheels—the principal, assistant principal, superintendent, and board of school trustees. These combined forces make decisions to comply with requirements, necessities, and wants of the school as a body and of the students individually.

With 1,000 less students in the high school, these officials have much closer contact with each student. This closer contact enables teachers to guide their students more completely in making out class schedules. The choice of subjects helps the students to decide further education, vocation, and preparation for marriage.

Each branch of administration is important in keeping the present and future Anderson High School system in working order.

Mr. John Paul Huffman, principal; and Pat Blume casually chat in the high school office about the problems confronting students.

Administrators Make Far-Reaching Decisions

Sandra Heflin takes down in newly-acquired shorthand skills the correspondence dictated by Mr. David Adams, assistant principal.

Backed by a Teaching Staff with Experience

Four officials, the boys' dean, the girls' dean, registrar, and head counselor, all assist the principal and assistant principal by keeping the records of individual student's scholastic growth and absenteeism.

Each official has one or more student assistants to relieve the load for him.

The counselors advise the students as to further education, grades, and new classes; the registrar makes out all class schedules, and the deans keep close contact with each student and his advancement.

All of these people, working together, are important to AHS and to its students.

"Who's absent today," Mr. Joseph Sparks, Dean of Boys; seems to be saying as he and John Osborne, his assistant, check the absentee list.

Judy Bingaman is just one of the girls who helps Mrs. Edna Rhyne Pearson Dean of Girls; at her very busy job.

Mr. Max Beigh, as head of the Counseling Office, attempts to help inquiring Shirley Wilmoth choose a future college.

The hardest part of the job for Mrs. Marjorie Austin, Registrar; and Mrs. Martha Goff is the scheduling of students' programs.

In Counseling, Instructing, and Living . . .

Mr. Ray Fleenor peers curiously as Mr. David Adams, Mr. Carol Helvey, Mr. Pete Russo, Mr. Joe Sparks, and Mr. Jim Carter await the opening of a mysterious package at the faculty men's Christmas party.

With the coming of the holiday seasons and the ending of grading periods, the teachers cement the year's friendships by having many and varied parties.

Behind the cool, calm face of Mr. Ray Sherman lies a brain that discovers diabolical schemes for gatherings. His "victims"—the male faculty of AHS. Every autumn the men teachers go to Sherman's orchard for an outdoor party, and while they are there collect the year's supply of apples. This year Mr. Sherman's theme was quite undiabolical—he held a restaurant dinner party.

The Yuletide brings with it more gala affairs for the male members. The men are feted at a Christmas party and each man is presented with an "appropriate" gift.

In the springtime, the Home Economics department has a tea for the faculty. The servers are the girls taking the Home Ec subjects.

Quite contrary to popular belief, teachers are human—and their parties show it.

Teachers with Heart

When 3:30 comes around and the students race to see who can beat whom outside, the school does not completely empty. As one wanders through the halls, he hears the rattling of papers and the sighs of a teacher ready to go home for the day.

Instruction isn't the only activity of an AHS teacher. He participates in civic affairs, charity work, and improves his own knowledge of teaching. He also attends club meetings, speaks before other service groups, sponsors school clubs, and attends special curriculum classes for the improvement of classes now held at AHS. Teachers are, indeed, busy people.

Seniors Speed Through Adventurous Years

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS—Seated, Beth Swinford, secretary; Diana Watson, treasurer. Standing, Jim Barbre, vice-president; Jack Webber, president.

Puzzling locker combinations, skirmishes in the crowded halls, and confused room numbers did not stop us as we sped through four of the most adventurous years of our lives.

Our freshman year brought the difficult task of electing class officers and learning the sayings of Jackie Gleason. The selection of class colors, rings, jackets and pins confronted us as sophomores. As a class of 700, we gave the first sophomore all-class party ever to be given at AHS.

During our junior year, we became Elvis Presley fans and entered an atmosphere of incense and wierd surroundings in our biggest accomplishment, the Prom with its theme, "An Oriental Fantasy."

When long-awaited Senior Week finally arrived, there were just over 400 seniors left. We came to our senses and realized that we had made it. We were the "big shots," filled with hope and confidence as we went out into a bigger world.

Juniors Relish Taste of Upperclass Roles

When the junior class started to school this year, they knew it was going to be different. The halls weren't so crowded, the classes not so big, and the confusion and noise not so great. Many friends had gone to the township school and the class was smaller. Each junior had to accept more responsibility in order for the class to be successful.

Working to put on the best Prom ever gave the class many unforgettable experiences. Last minute changes in plans, decorations falling down, and not enough refreshments all added to the excitement.

As the end of school rolled around, the juniors looked back on the year with pride and the feeling that they had accomplished many things. They got a taste of being upperclassmen and are ready to assume the roles of leaders next year.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS—Ann Adams, treasurer; Brooks Townsend, president; Marilyn Bryant, secretary; Dan Motto, vice-president.

Sophomores Take Place of Departed Actives

Coming through the doors of AHS last fall, the sophomore class was a little different from most sophomore classes. There was no air of superiority in their manner. They were happy and anticipated the year ahead; yet, they had what seemed to them a major disappointment. They were still the youngest class.

As the year progressed they soon realized that their class was a very important part of the school. Determined not to be outdone by the upper classes, the sophomores made many contributions to the school.

Many clubs threw open their doors to the sophomores for the first time. A live-wire class, it was now able to take part in more activities than ever before.

By solving their problems and trying new ideas through the year, they gained confidence and pride and look forward to next year knowing they have what it takes!

Activities

Highly organized clubs and extra-curricular activities have continued to move at their steady pace this year, despite the fact that they suffered a great drop in membership. Since several of last year's leaders are gone, new personalities have stepped up to take their places.

Helping the students to learn to get along with their neighbors and become better citizens in later life are two of the purposes of most of these clubs. Many organizations are formed chiefly to give religious, civic, and social aid to the community. Anderson holds great pride in the various types of work done for others by AHS students.

'57 Annual First To Be Printed Commercially

YEARBOOK EDITORS—Ronald Campbell, Co-Editor-in-Chief; Mr. Frank Woschitz, Editorial and Business Adviser; Larry Gibson, Head Photographer; Fran Wagner, Co-Editor-in-Chief.

By now you have thumbed your way through 83 pages of an "Indian" which thirteen senior staff members labored 2600 class and after-school hours to produce. Staff members with their instruments of glue, carbon paper, contracts, razor blades, flash bulbs, printer's ink, file cards, and proportion rules, met a new and challenging task of producing Anderson High School's first commercially printed yearbook.

Travel was the keynote of this '57 staff. Nine attended such conventions as the High School Journalism Institute at Indiana University and national and state conferences at the University of Michigan, Franklin College, and Ball State. They brought back experiences, new ideas, improvements, and friends for the "Indian."

For the first time in several years, thirteen junior staff members shared the responsibilities of publishing the annual. Working closely with the senior staff, they learned from first-hand experience the work and satisfaction connected with putting out a yearbook for AHS.

X-Ray Tops 50-Year Mark

For more than 53 years, students in AHS have come to expect their weekly X-Ray on Friday morning. No matter if the presses broke down or water mains burst, X-Rays were ready on Friday.

When Mr. Claude Barner died, the presses were silent and the printshop doors closed. He had printed the paper and more than a million other items annually for 33 years. After a lapse of six issues, Mr. Donald Hays became printing instructor, and the X-Ray once again went to press. From then on the paper, printed on slick white stock for the first time, came out bi-weekly until the end of school.

Music Experiences King-Sized Growth

From regular to king-size went the Music Department and with it the music annex. While the band and orchestra grew, causing a bulge in the thirty-year old annex, a new music room was completed in early December.

Individual practice used to consist of sitting in a corner that was usually occupied and hearing everyone but oneself. Now students may use three practice rooms. They can browse in a new library and store instruments in supply rooms equipped with shelves and folding doors. In the basement, Indianettes practice their routines in a room lined with wall-to-wall mirrors.

The bright colors of the new annex, flame, yellow, and pale green, have stimulated students to make more effective sounds, but there is no need to worry for the walls of the building are soundproof.

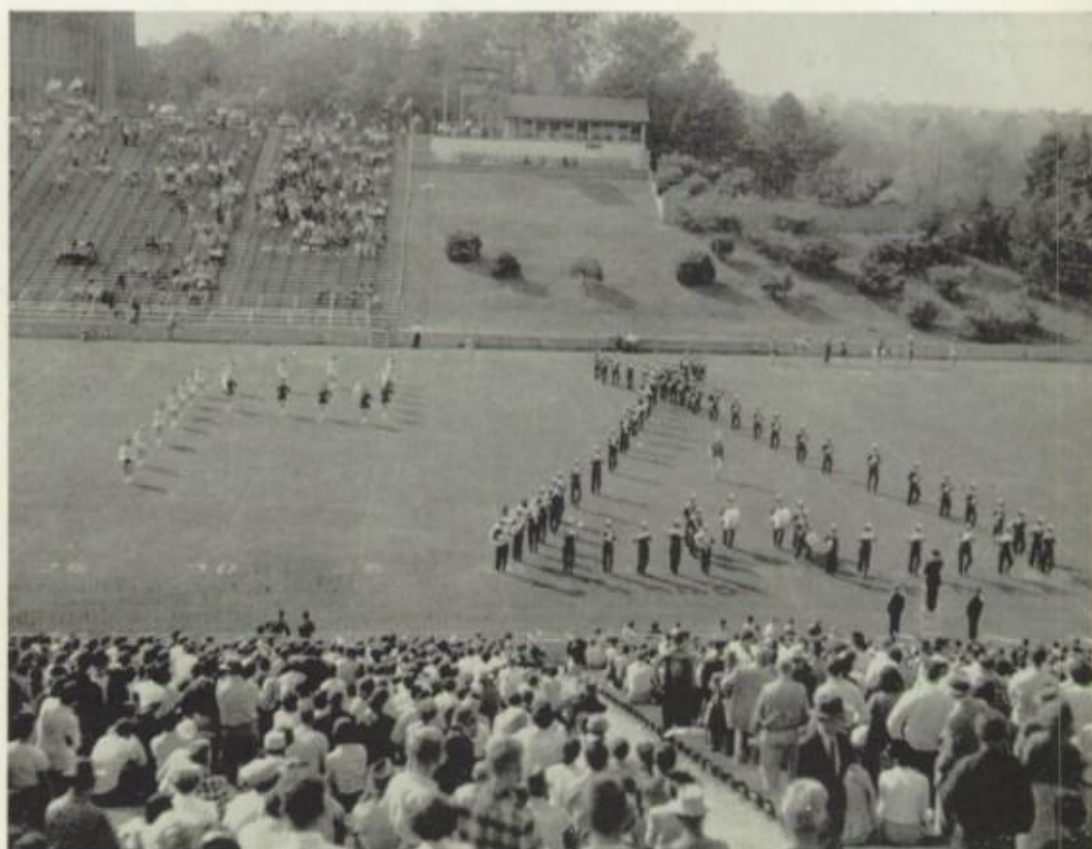

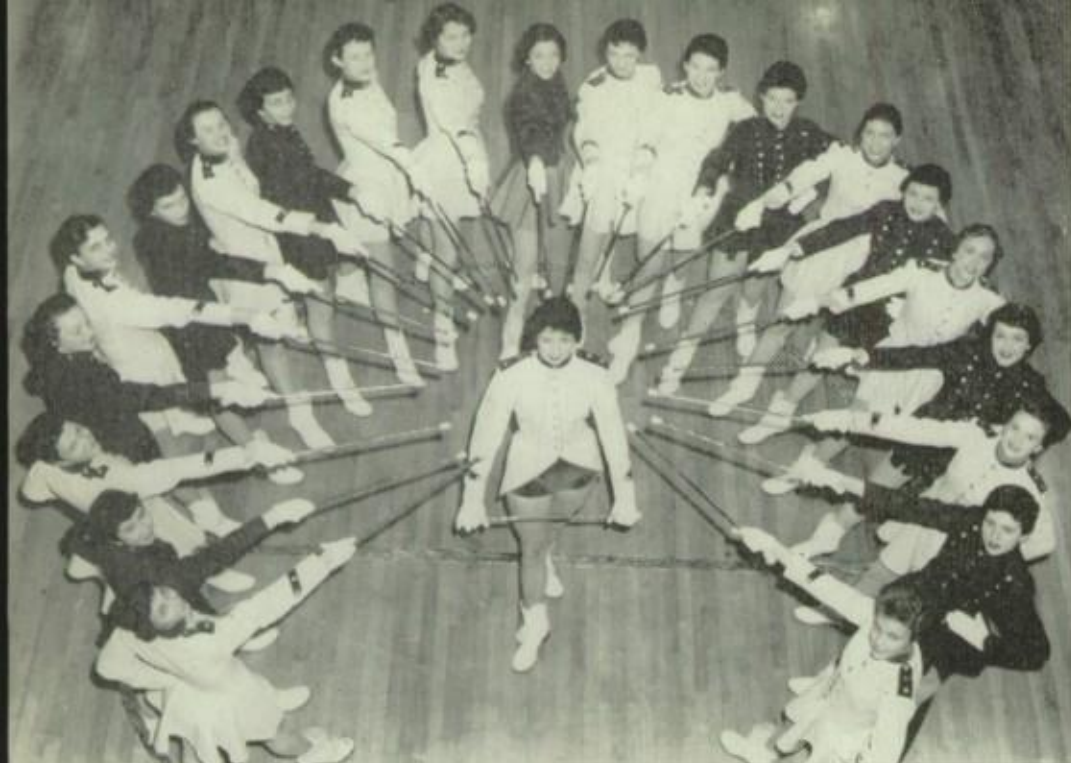

Feature of the Band's halftime football shows were the high-stepping Indianettes, who may have drawn as many spectators as the football team.

AHS's Band played an important part in community affairs as this scene from a Guide Lamp Division picnic attests.

Proudly forming a traditional Indian teepee is the AHS Marching Band in its performance in Butler Bowl last Fall.

The Band Plays On

Take 22 dazzling majorettes, a proud drum major, a high-stepping 78-piece band, add florescent lighting, the strains of "You Ain't Nothin' But A Hound Dog", and you have the picture of what went on at half-time at home football and basketball games.

The band was the first high school group to present a complete half-time football show at a major college when it performed at the Butler Bowl. Out of 92 bands participating at the Indiana State Fair, the AHS Band took second place, just three points short of a perfect 300. "Say It With Music" was the theme of the Variety Show, the highlight of the band's season.

Through the whole year, it's rush and practice, a show to do, and more rushing and practice, but still "the band plays on."

Annex Echos to Choral Club Voices Again

CHORAL CLUB OFFICERS—Dave Clem, President; Betsey Barnes, Secretary-Treasurer; Jim Barbre, Vice President.

Anderson's largest choir, Choral Club, can now be found in its original location, the music annex. Because of the overcrowded conditions of the school several years ago, Choral Club was moved from the music annex to a room across the street in the Lincoln Building. Now that more room is available, the 70-member choral group has returned to its original home.

Miss Mary Ruth Palmer, director, keeps her students pretty busy, preparing them for their various programs of the year. This year Choral Club gave approximately fifteen programs, including one at the English Session of the State Teachers' Association in Indianapolis.

Choral Club also is proud of its spirit of comradeship which showed itself in such activities as a picnic in the fall where the "Titanic Tenors" and Amalgamated Basses" clashed in their annual football game, a Christmas party, and a spring picnic which brought a return match between the Tenors and the Basses on the baseball field.

Madrigal Singers, wrapped in mufflers and heavy coats, add to the effect of a Winter Wonderland at the Music Department's annual Christmas Convocation in the gym.

Madrigal Remembers Holiday Season Rush

Rushing through snow, rain, or slush with just a few minutes until the program starts are memories the Madrigal Club will never forget. Six girls in aqua formals adjusted ties for six boys in white dinner jackets, got final words of approval on their outfits, and led the way on stage.

Finally seated and singing their best, the Madrigal singers amazed most audiences with their varied repertoire.

Besides singing as a group, three quartets, consisting of the boys', girls', and mixed quartets, and individual members singing solos presented special numbers.

Madrigal singers get their name from the old English carolers who used to roam the cities and countryside during the holidays. The club presented thirty programs during the 1956 holiday season for the local civic organizations, various church groups, and different clubs in Anderson.

Orchestra Develops Huge Feeder System

Screeching of violins, toots of horns, and beating of drums are all familiar sounds during the fifth period in the new home of the orchestra, the modern music annex. Tuning up in this manner, the 48-member group proudly played at Purdue University and Manchester College this year. Ten students also played with the All-State Orchestra in Indianapolis last October.

Directed by Mr. Thomas Clem, the orchestra is the hub of a huge feeder system which begins instrumental training in elementary and junior high schools. The system brought a first place in a state contest last year and the promise of better things in the future.

The orchestra also adds background music to the rabbits and Santa Claus in the annual Easter and Christmas programs sponsored by the Music Department, and to the yearly Commencement exercises.

Reality Disappears In Thespian World

The Thespian play, "Seven Sisters," gave chivalry a boost as Bill Rowland, Jane Ann Ford, and Joan Whelan watch Bob France plant a kiss on Joan's hand.

The house light dim. A hush falls over the audience as the curtain rises. Reality disappears and the world of make-believe takes its place. Then it is over. As the last curtain falls and the enthusiastic clapping of the audience begins, the Thespian Club can congratulate itself on having presented another successful production.

A member of Thespians not only has a chance to act in dramatic productions, but may also gain experience in other fields such as lighting, costumes, makeup, and stage work. The main dramatic project this year was the comedy, "Seven Sisters."

Meetings in 306 Challenge Student Council

That long trudge up to 306 becomes quite important when you are on your way to Student Council every Thursday. It may be a long walk, but it gives you a chance to think about the outcome of last week's filibuster session, which dress you will wear tomorrow night, and, oh, those aching feet.

A student is chosen in each homeroom to represent his classmates in Student Council throughout the year. The sponsors this year, Mrs. Virginia Vermillion and Mr. Clifford Swift, had quite a job for it was a new experience for both of them.

Student Council held its Fall Wind-Up Dance and was in charge of the Homecoming Parade and the crowning of the Homecoming Queen. Its biggest project this year was the No-Acs program to encourage safe student driving. They also conducted the annual parents' visitation day, adopting ideas from questionnaires the council received from other schools. At Christmas time, Student Council provided food for two needy families.

Leadership, Character Important to Scholars

HONOR SOCIETY OFFICERS—John Osborne, Vice President; Kay Gustin, Treasurer; Alice Fishback, Secretary; Sherrill Modlin, President.

The present chapter of National Honor Society, one of the oldest clubs in the school, has been chartered since 1938. Before that it was known as the Anderson High Honorary Society.

Students belonging to National Honor Society not only have maintained their scholastic marks, but have been active in school clubs and outside activities as well. This club strives to render service, promote leadership, and encourage development of character in students. Therefore leadership, service and character are considered along with scholarship in choosing members for the club.

Membership is based upon a point system. A student receives 3 points for a final "A", 2 points for a "B", and 1 point for a "C", with a minimum of 36 points required at the beginning of the junior year. A "D" or "F" average disqualifies a student.

A candlelight ceremony formally initiated the new members and they climaxed their year with a banquet which was attended by all present members.

Latin Club Slaves Volunteer to Aid Needy

Latin Club initiates like Dinah Tyler and John Melson are auctioned to the highest bidder by "slave auctioneer" Richard Rosenbaum for a week's servitude under old members.

AHS's auditorium resembled an old Roman slave market again this year when prospective Latin Club members were sold to the highest bidder for a week's service. The club used the slave sale as a method of raising money for charity.

The club also sold Christmas cards as a money making project. It also took third place in competition for the best float in the Homecoming Parade.

Serious events such as the formal candlelight initiation and the annual banquet, along with social events at the state convention at Ball State, will linger in their memories for a long time. A joint meeting held with Highland and St. Mary's highlighted the year for the parents of the members. Skits and slides about Rome also entertained the club members at some of their meetings.

Members, who have studied Latin in class, find participation in the club makes for better understanding of the language, people, and customs.

World Fellowship Is Purpose of Y-Teens

"To build a fellowship of women and girls and create a spirit of world fellowship among Y-Teen members" is the true purpose of the Y-Teen clubs.

Y-Teen clubs, sponsored by the YWCA, are open to all girls from 12 to 18 years old. The clubs planned hay-rides, banquets, dances; and parties for handicapped children were the main service projects this year.

The Inter-Club Council, governing body of the clubs, sponsored the World Fellowship Tea for Anderson College foreign students along with the annual Silver Belle Dance and the Hanging of the Greens at Christmas.

Seniors, juniors, and sophomores in AHS make up most of the membership in the three high-school Y-Teen clubs. They work together on many projects and social events, but also reserve special events just for members of their class. The number of girls active in and loyal to Y-Teens is far greater than that of any other high school club.

Hi-Y Adds Easter Service to Dimes Drive

HI-Y OFFICERS — Mr. Gene Bell, Sponsor; Andy Goodson, Treasurer; Phil Gaar, President; John Osborne, Chaplain; Rick Williams, Vice President.

Conducting the Easter Sunrise Service for the first time, Hi-Y Club enjoyed sponsoring the program which proved to be the most important project they encountered this year. The service was enjoyed by many Andersonians.

Not only did the members officiate the Sunrise Service at Shadyside, but they again held their annual "Line of Dimes" drive and gave a Christmas party for 756 children.

No, Hi-Y isn't a girls' club; it merely had a few of the boys dressed as girls in a hilarious ballgame at a pep session. The girl team played the short boy team, which represented the Anderson Indians. The Indians won, 6 to 2. The club also sponsored a bus load of students to the Anderson-Logansport game as part of their year-long drive to improve school spirit.

Members heard speakers, took field trips, and participated on two Hi-Y teams in the intramural basketball league as part of their weekly program of activities.

For the first time in the Hi-Y's history, the club, formerly an upperclass group exclusively, was open to sophomores.

Highlanders Get on Soap Box for Charity

"Soap! Soap! Soap for sale." was the sales pitch used by Highlanders in order to raise money for the World Service Program. The sale was in the form of a contest. Members were divided into teams and the team that sold the most boxes of soap won a trip to Cincinnati to see "Cinerama Holiday." The person who sold the most boxes received a clock radio. When the drive was completed, the club turned over $200 to World Service projects.

Highlanders is the first coeducational club in Indiana and is sponsored by the YMCA. It started in Indiana in the fall of 1954, but originated in California. It was one of the first clubs to include members from all of the schools in the Anderson district.

The major purpose of Highlanders is to create, maintain, and extend a high standard of Christian character.

This young club, which is developing more each year, has had some interesting programs. Just a few of them were the World Service Program, a coke party, and a ventriloquist.

Athletes Wear Red and Green with Pride

"A" CLUB OFFICERS—Seated—Perry Hill, Vice President. Standing—Keith Hamilton, Secretary-Treasurer; Larry Dodd, President; Mr. Carl Bonge, Sponsor.

Red and green are the colors of Anderson High School, and also those of the "A" Club, a group of boys who have won a letter in one of the eight major sports. The club is one of the largest in school and its members can easily be spotted by their red sweaters with the green letter "A" on the front.

Every year there are about 100 varsity awards earned in all sports. Leading the list is always football with from 20 to 25 awards, next is track with 20, then wrestling 12, basketball and baseball with ten each, cross country with seven, and golf and tennis with five each.

Earning a letter at AHS involves serving a year's apprenticeship on the freshman squad and possibly a season on the junior varsity. Varsity athletes have to sacrifice in order to stay in condition and are subject to praise and criticism depending on the fortunes of their teams. But still they compete because the rewards in fellowship and in competition far outweigh any disadvantages.

Revived Club Studies History-Making Events

Reorganizing this year, the Anderson High School History Club hopes to stimulate interest among its members by planning historical research, historical programs, and visits to sites of historical interest.

In October, 1946, a group of more than 80 interested students, sponsored by Miss Virginia Lindstrom and Mr. Byron Helfrich, asked to be made an officially recognized AHS club. Miss Lindstrom was the sponsor as the club reorganized this year.

History Clubs in the past ten years have journeyed to such historical spots as the first territorial capital in Vincennes, the home of William Henry Harrison, only President elected from Indiana, and the spot, near Bardstown, where Steven Foster wrote his famous song, "My Old Kentucky Home."

At a time when far-reaching and permanent changes are being made constantly in the history of the world, it is a credit to AHS that there is a club whose sole purpose is to investigate these changes and become better informed citizens as a result.

Better Farming Methods Scrutinized by FFA

FUTURE FARMERS OFFICERS—David Fox, President; Willis Durant, Tom Rydman, Vice President; Mr. Horace Wilson, Sponsor; Wilbur Durant, Secretary; Bill Neff, Treasurer.

For 22 years, the Future Farmers of America Club has been rated as one of the top clubs in AHS. Open to all agricultural students, this club aims toward better farming methods and promotes farming cooperation.

These boys have the unique distinction of being the only club working with outdoor occupations. Their time is spent on field trips, studying soils and crops, preparing stock for exhibition at the State Fair, and visiting stock shows. They work mainly with grains, dairy products, general livestock, and poultry. Future Farmers compete and win their share of state farming contests of all kinds.

The A.W.H. Hardy Cup is given each year to the outstanding boy, and scholarships are presented to the winners in various judging contests.

Members of FFA often begin friendships that last a lifetime because each member is interested in the same goal, a career in agriculture. Many farms in the Anderson area owe their prosperity to the early training these owners received in FFA.

Retailers Attend State, National Conventions

With suitcases in one hand and tickets in the other, members of the Future Retailers Club attended educational conventions of Indiana Distributive Education Clubs at Indiana University and the national convention in April in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Two of the national D.E.C.A.'s important officers were local boys. They were Jack Macy, class of '56, national treasurer; and Jack Webber, Indiana state president.

These future businessmen and women also promote projects to benefit both school and community. The children at the county orphans' home were guests at the club's fifth annual Christmas party. Members treated their employers, whom they work for half of the school day, at a banquet. Each week students arrange merchandise from downtown Anderson in the front hall. Students see the latest styles, and D.E. members gain advertising experience at the same time.

Assemblies Planned

Working together to produce programs for assemblies, the pep session and convocation committees present different kinds of entertainment throughout the year.

Highlighting the convocations were mental mystery performers, Mardoni and Louise; the Manchester Choir, and UN specialist, James Eldridge.

The pep sessions committee carried on the traditional Red and Green week, Homecoming, and basketball celebration day as the guiding force of AHS school spirit.

The monitors serving in the halls can be of great assistance to any students. Not only do they check for violators, but these teen-agers spend much of their time trying to find persons wanted on the telephone, taking new students to class, and telling the high school story to any visitors.

They hold a position of trust and have always conducted themselves accordingly.

SECOND SEMESTER HEAD MONITORS — Mary Breitweiser, Dave Crandall, Ann Davis, Bob France, Ann Gehrke, Janet McDaniel, Nancy Brewster.

Dogs or Crowds Beware of Ushers, Cadets

Ever need help? Ushers Club and Parking Lot Cadets are both at your service. These two groups of boys prove to be of the greatest help during convos when dogs or basketball crowds attempt to dash onto the gym floor, when the car motor won't start, and when that flat tire needs changing.

Giving up a great deal of their spare time, these boys devote much energy to making everyone's day move more smoothly.

Athletics

The character and spirit that have grown through the years became especially noticeable as the "new" Anderson High School pushed on in its competitive sports. Although the student body was greatly decreased this year, few seats were left vacant, for the traditional enthusiasm still backed the teams. Some familiar voices were gone, and a few of the members of the teams were missing, but new students replaced them to help spur the Indians on to victory.

"Scalp 'em Red" will resound through the ages as the Indians plunge into sports each year. The faithful grads join with the students to cheer each team towards a winning season.

Spirit of the Indians is personified by Indian Mascots Marvin Horton and Sandra DuBois.

Indians Romp to Victorious Football Season

Coach Jim Carter's Redskins had their second consecutive winning season for the first time since 1937 and 1938. The Tribe, encountering one of the roughest schedules in the state, compiled a record of five victories and four losses.

The attendance at the home games was very high, considering the loss of 1,000 township students. A combination of fine offensive football, as taught by Coach Carter, an All-American halfback in his own right at Purdue, and the highly entertaining half-time shows under the direction of Mr. George Vaught, attracted a very attentive crowd.

Tribe Whips Shelbyville.

The Tribe opened its season against Shelbyville with an amazing show of defense. Phil Sullivan, the wing-footed quarterback, completed his first pass of the season to Larry Dodd for a 28 yard touchdown, the first touchdown of the season. Ending the battle at half-time on even terms, the Indians roared out on the field to conquer the Golden Bears in the second half, 27 to 14.

Suffering from costly penalties, the Tribe trailed Richmond, 13 to 0, in the first half of the second game. The energetic Redskins, not knowing the taste of defeat, kicked off to open the second half, but to no avail. Behind only 26-13, and looking stronger in the third quarter, Anderson made a fatal mistake. The Indians failed to cover a punt, allowing Richmond Quarterback Dave Chapman, an All-American high school selection, to pick up the loose ball and race 69 yards to the Anderson 6 yard line. The resulting touchdown clinched the game, 32 to 13. Muscular Nat Johnson romped over the field for a gain of 132 yards along the ground, but defensive mistakes decided the game's outcome.

Sophomore Fullback Stars.

In the third game of the season, Anderson succumbed to the Indianapolis Tech Greenclads, 33 to 12. Agile John Teague, a 157-pound sophomore fullback, followed some mighty precise blocking for 112 yards in 17 carries in the first game of his varsity career. Remarkably, the Tribe made twice as many first downs as the Greyclads. Fumbles and long punt returns set up several Tech touchdowns in the spectacular victory.

Anderson 39—Marion 21. One of the most courageous showings of the season came after Marion had returned the opening kickoff for a touchdown. Johnson then took the initiative by scoring the first of his three touchdowns. The Braves pranced off the field at half-time leading, 20 to 14. Accepting the half-time kickoff, Carter's Redskins rocked, socked, and rolled over the Giants as the Tribe's speedy Halfback Fred Simpson ran up a total of 146 yards and completed a touchdown pass of 54 yards to left end Dodd to set up another touchdown.

Kokomo Scores Early.

Anderson's third loss came as a result of three quick touchdowns in the first quarter by the beefy Kokomo Wildcats. Earning only nine first downs in the entire game, the Tribe couldn't find a hole in the Wildcat's heavy forward wall. Nimble-footed Jim Eades, of Kokomo, was at his peak, filling the air with lateral passes and using the quarterback keep. Plagued with butterfingers receivers, Quarterback Sullivan connected only one of six passes as the Tribe accepted defeat, 32 to 14.

Suffering its fourth and worst defeat, Anderson lost to Muncie Central, 39 to 13. Touchdowns scored by Lucius Teague and Simpson apparently were not enough to stop the sticky-fingered Muncie defensive unit which intercepted three passes, scoring on two and setting up another touchdown.

4,000 Watch Victory.

With almost 4,000 spectators witnessing this year's Homecoming game with Indianapolis Howe, the Tribe reacted to colorful slogans on Homecoming floats and an enthusiastic crowd to begin a winning streak that was to carry right through the rest of the season. In the dismal, rain-soaked field, the teams sloshed back and forth as Carlos Corzine carried the muddy pigskin for 109 yards and two touchdowns. The Tribe's forward wall of Dodd, Larry Gellinger, Keith Hamilton, Lucius Teague, and Jerry Hale played more like champions than at any time this season. Limberlegs Simpson swept outside for a 41 yard touchdown, and Lucius Teague caught the ball twice for 67 yards. The rain-soaked fans gurgled happily as the Redskins battled their way to a convincing 34 to 7 victory over the Hornets.

Defeating their old rival, the Elwood Panthers, for the fifth straight time was the ambition of every Indian. The score remained tied at 7 to 7, ending the first quarter. The Brave's quarterback, Sullivan, connected on three of four passes and scored a touchdown for an outstanding performance. Assisting in the scoring department, Simpson gained 90 yards and scored one touchdown while Johnson helped to rip up the sod, carrying the pigskin for 90 yards and two touchdowns. Dad's Day proved to be very successful, as the Tribe took charge to chalk up another victory, 33 to 20, over the Panthers.

Records Set At Frankfort.

AHS entered its final game of the season with the Frankfort Hot Dogs to determine the outcome of the season. Allowing only one touchdown, the Tribe performed the way it was capable of playing by running up a total of 505 yards. With only seven attempts, Johnson carried the ball for 112 yards for an average of 16 yards per carry. Elongated Lucius Teague, who specializes in long passes, caught one for a spectacular score.

With only ten seconds remaining, the Indians got the ball and Bob Stoner, reserve quarterback, passed to Larry Gellinger to score a touchdown in just five seconds. The touchdown made the final score, 54 to 7.

A pair of flashy senior halfbacks, Simpson and Johnson, captured the lion's share of the individual honors as they paced the Indians to one of their highest scoring seasons in history. Johnson led the team in yards gained with 589 with Simpson a close second with 575. The two reversed positions in the scoring race with Simpson counting 7 touchdowns and 23 extra points and Johnson 10 touchdowns.

Perched high atop the scaffold at Denny Field, Coach Jim Carter is watching for opponents' weaknesses and relaying the information to Assistant Coach Pete Russo by telephone.

The Indians missed by a whisker of becoming the highest-scoring team coached by Mr. Carter. They scored 239 points in nine games, a 26.6 average. In 1953 Carter's Indians racked up 267 points in ten games for a 26.7 average. Indian backs paraded over the opposition goal lines 36 times or an average of four times a game. In the season's finale against Frankfort the Tribe set several records. The 54 points was the highest ever registered by a Carter-coached Indian team. It was also the biggest score ever run up against a North Central Conference team.

Several other players shared in the offensive honors for the season. Quarterback Sullivan gained 323 yards on 19 completed passes. Top pass catcher was Dodd who picked off 8 for 202 yards. Dodd also did all of the team's punting, averaging 35.7 yards on 19 kicks. Sophomore John Teague returned 11 kickoffs for 188 yards, and Simpson returned 9 punts for a total of 130 yards to lead those departments.

Parents Present Trophies.

Mr. Lloyd Stoner, president of the Football Parents Boosters Club, presented trophies to Dodd, the best offensive lineman; Simpson, best blocking back; Hamilton, best defensive lineman and Jerry Carpenter, best defensive back. The Tribe chose Hamilton and Perry Hill as co-captains of the squad.

The record of Coach Carter's football team in 1956 may not be spectacular, but it was a great step toward a new era, as it ended in a season rich in victories and in sophomores for the 1957 Anderson football team.

Perennial Champs Second in Cross Country

Failing in a bid for the State Cross Country title for only the third time in the history of the event, the Anderson Indians settled, however, for nothing less than second place in the state meet. The Indians had a good season of four victories and two losses.

Starting the season with two setbacks to Marion and Tech was discouraging at first, but after continuous evenings of hard work and strenuous running, the Braves regained their stride. Winning remaining meets over Muncie Burris, Richmond, Muncie Central, and Shortridge pleased Coach Carl Bonge very much as the boys demonstrated that with stiff doses of conditioning drills and a win-at-any-cost attitude, they could reach championship.

LeVaughn Binkley was the Tribe's outstanding runner and placed fourth in the state meet. The Tribe honored hard-working Jerry Hardacre by selecting him captain of the squad at the end of the season. Lettermen were Hardacre, Marvin Horton, Aaron Williams, Paul Abshire, Binkley, Robert Brown, and Larry Massey.

A place in the state meet was quite an accomplishment for a team that entered the season with only three returning lettermen, Horton, Williams, and Hardacre.

Coach Bonge, a molder of champions, was equal to the task and Anderson held onto its place as the top Cross Country School in the state, year in and year out. With an experienced group returning next year, plus capable reserve squad members, the Tribe should be among the top teams again.

Coach Carl Bonge gives terse last minute instructions just before the keyed-up Indians embark on the sectional cross country meet at the Edgewood Golf Course. Finishing second, the Bongemen qualified for the state meet.

Though surrounded by a covey of New Castle players, Fisher, (30), Summers (15), and Pavy (23), Lucius Teague (22), sinks another of his deadly hook shots. Anderson won, 75 to 64.

Close Defeats Give Indians Losing Record

Anderson's Indians averaged 57.1 points a game this season, about $4\frac{1}{2}$ less than the 1956 team that won 18 and lost 6, and those few points probably meant the difference between a winning and losing season this year.

Five of Anderson's 14 losses would have been entered in the victory column with the addition of $4\frac{1}{2}$ points, just over two baskets, in each of the games. The losses were 61 to 57 to Indianapolis Tech, 65 to 61 to Muncie Central in an overtime, 68 to 66 to Logansport, 63 to 59 to New Castle in an overtime, and 53 to 52 to Richmond. Anderson's season mark would then have been 13 wins and 9 defeats.

Of the nine remaining losses, two of them were by five points to Kokomo and Shelbyville and one by six points to Frankfort. With a little added scoring punch, an 8 won and 14 lost record would have been 16 won and 6 lost.

Tribe Wins Big Four.

Entering the Big Four with a 4-4 record, Coach Ick Osborne's Indians defeated the New

Castle Trojans in the opening game, 75 to 64. In the final game of the tourney, the Redskins trounced the Elwood Panthers in an upset, 62 to 46. It was the tenth tourney championship for the Indians since the event started in 1929. They won in 1932, '33, '39, '43, '46, '49, '50, '53, '56, and '57. This places Anderson far ahead of runner-up New Castle which has five titles.

Opening the '57 season the Tribe subdued a tough Rushville squad, 63 to 57, in the Wigwam before 4,000 Hoosier hardwood fans. Phil Sullivan's six quick points at the end sparked the victory.

For the first out-of-town performance, the team traveled to Terra Haute Wiley, nosing out a tall, veteran team, 47 to 45.

First defeat in three starts came when the Redskins lost to a battling Ft. Wayne Central five, 68 to 56. The teams were deadlocked 9 times before the outcome was decided. Marion Giants followed up by handing the Indians their second defeat of the season, 71 to 43.

Blackout Delays Game.

postponement due to a transformer failure which blacked out the gym just before the game was to start. The road suddenly took a turn for the worse as the Braves dropped two straight encounters. Next to halt Coach Osborne's unlucky Tribe was Lafayette Jeff's Broncos, 46 to 34. Then a thriller took place in the Wigwam as Muncie Central defeated the Redskins, 70 to 62, in an exciting 32 minute affair. Norm Delph potted 30 points in a losing cause.

Next to feel the pangs of defeat at the hands of the Indians were Shortridge's Blue Devils. The Tribesmen led throughout in a 59 to 46 victory.

The Indians then began to meet the tough ones. They lost three games in a row to Shelbyville, Tech of Indianapolis, and Muncie Central, all teams that were constantly engaged in a battle in the top ten in the state. The thriller of the season came in the terrific battle with Muncie Central. Dick Patterson, Lucius Teague, and Larry Dodd scored in the double digits, but the Bearcats crawled over the Tribe in the last three minutes of play to win in overtime, 65 to 61.

Anderson Wallops Columbus.

Anderson finally walloped the Columbus Bulldogs, 72 to 49, as Teague scored 19 points and Delph 23.

Coach Ick Osborne argues a point with referee Bob Dornte of Fort Wayne at the Tech game over a double-dribble called on Anderson at a crucial point in the game. The Indians were nosed out by Tech, 61 to 57.

Larry Dodd (20) crouches on all fours to protect the ball from Hannon (15), of Tech, as Lucius Teague (22) back tracks to help. Tech edged the Tribe, 61 to 57.

Again the Tribe fell into a slump losing six straight fracas. Frankfort, Kokomo, South Bend Central, Logansport, New Castle, and Richmond added the Redskin's scalp to their victory belts. Only the South Bend defeat was by more than six points.

First in line, the Frankfort Hotdogs licked the Indians, 57 to 51, although Patterson led the scoring attack with 21 points, the best performance of his season's play. Kokomo downed the Tribe, 57 to 52. The Braves fought top rated South Bend Central on even terms the last three quarters, but could not overcome a 30 to 15 deficit in the first quarter, losing 78 to 59. Although the Braves led the first quarter, 28 to 14, Logansport edged out the Tribe, 68 to 66 in a real heartbreaker.

New Castle's Trojans gained revenge for defeat in the Big Four Tourney, by downing the Tribe, 63 to 59, in an overtime. The score switched back and forth with the Tribe never more than a point behind at each quarter. Richmond Red Devils romped to a 20 point lead with only six minutes remaining in the game and then had to hold on in the face of one of the greatest rallies ever seen on the high school floor before winning 53 to 52. Trailing 45 to 25, the Tribe caught fire to score 27 points in the fourth quarter after racking up only 14 points the first half. A total of 28 points came in 35 attempts at the charity line.

Teague Shows Accuracy.

At the Anderson High School gym in the sectional, the Redskins opened up against the Alexandria Tigers. The Tribe played a cat and mouse type of game that bothered the Tigers, and took a 30 to 21 lead at the half. Shooting a remarkable .500 from the field and a .657 from the free throw line, the Indians won, 60 to 41, in one of the best played games in the Wigwam. Teague hit 11 of 18 field goal attempts in a great display of shooting accuracy.

Entering the second plateau towards the sectional title, the Tribe played the tall Elwood Panthers. Falling behind the first quarter by six points, 16 to 10, the Braves never recovered as Elwood won 67 to 53. The Panthers claws were razor sharp as they won over the Indians for the first time in 29 years. Elwood then went on to its first sectional title in history.

Bowing out are the senior members of the squad, Larry Dodd, Fred Simpson, Capt. Lucius Teague, Mike Johnson, Nat Johnson, and Darrel Young. They played their hearts out to the end, and never alibied for some of the cruelist breaks ever bestowed upon an Indian team.

Fred Simpson (4) snatches a rebound away from a rough Alexandria five, particularly Disgue (35), as Darrel Young (15), Larry Dodd (20), and Norman Delph (13) survey the situation. Anderson whipped the pesky five, 60 to 41.

CHEERLEADERS BEFORE A FOOTBALL CROWD—Karen Veazey, Linda Stanley, Melanie Martin, Lonnie Iveson, Ann Harris, Judy Coon.

Ingenious Cheerleaders Keep Students Peppy

Traditional link between high school athletics and the student body is the group of cheerleaders, who this year were second to none in spirit and ingenuity.

They added many new and novel yells and encouraged participation by members of the student body. At pep sessions during the season, students enjoyed the Moppettes, an all-boys chorus line; the Hi-Y comedy basketball game, choosing Mr. Red and Miss Green, and the competition for best float by a homeroom during the Sectional Week celebration.

The Indian Brave and Maiden also worked out new routines to add to the innovations of pep sessions and pre-game festivities in 1957.

Jumping head over heels with joy, Judy Coon, AHS cheerleader, leads the enthusiastic crowd in the Alexandria sectional game.

Wrestlers Rally Late

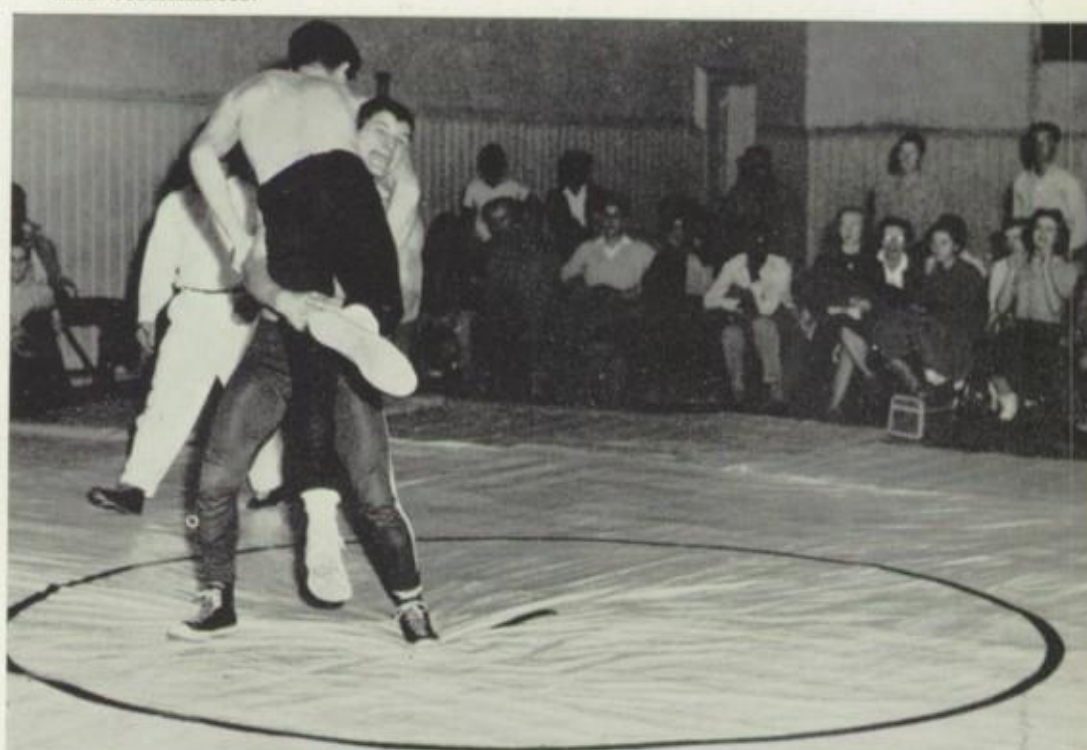

Entering the season with a group of inexperienced boys and a new coach, Mr. Don Pyle, the wrestling team opened its season with eight straight losses. After gaining match experience, the team won two of their last five matches over New Castle and Madison Heights.

Outstanding individual performances were first year man Jerry Joe Smith's five match victories at the end of the season, Bill Neff's conference and sectional titles and the state runnerup medal, and Melvin Mimms' second place sectional finish.

Girls Improve Personality, Health in G. R. A.

Fun, exercise, and a desire to better personality and health are the goals of the spirited Girls Recreation Association, sponsored by Mrs. Maxine Barcus.

The girls dropped the former G.A.A. and substituted the term "recreation" for "athletic", because it implies good sportsmanship and a form of relaxation rather than competition in sports.

Junior High students were admitted for the first time in the history of the club. Although being classified as associate members, they have no voting power and cannot attend the social gatherings.

The outstanding new project was a series of demonstrations and talks on diet and health given by the girls at sororities and women's club meetings in the city.

Participating in horseback riding, roller skating at Alexandria, ice skating at the Indianapolis Coliseum, and bowling gave the girls training in sports that have a carry-over in later life.

Proud of their club's contribution of baskets of food to needy Anderson families are Girls Recreation Association officers. Nancy Skinner, secretary; Marcia Huffer, vice-president; Sandra Phillippe, treasurer.

Tennis Team Seeks To Add to Title Scalps

Coach Dane Pugh, whose tennis teams have won 72 meets and dropped only 13 in his seven-year coaching career, sent one of his most inexperienced squads to the courts this year.

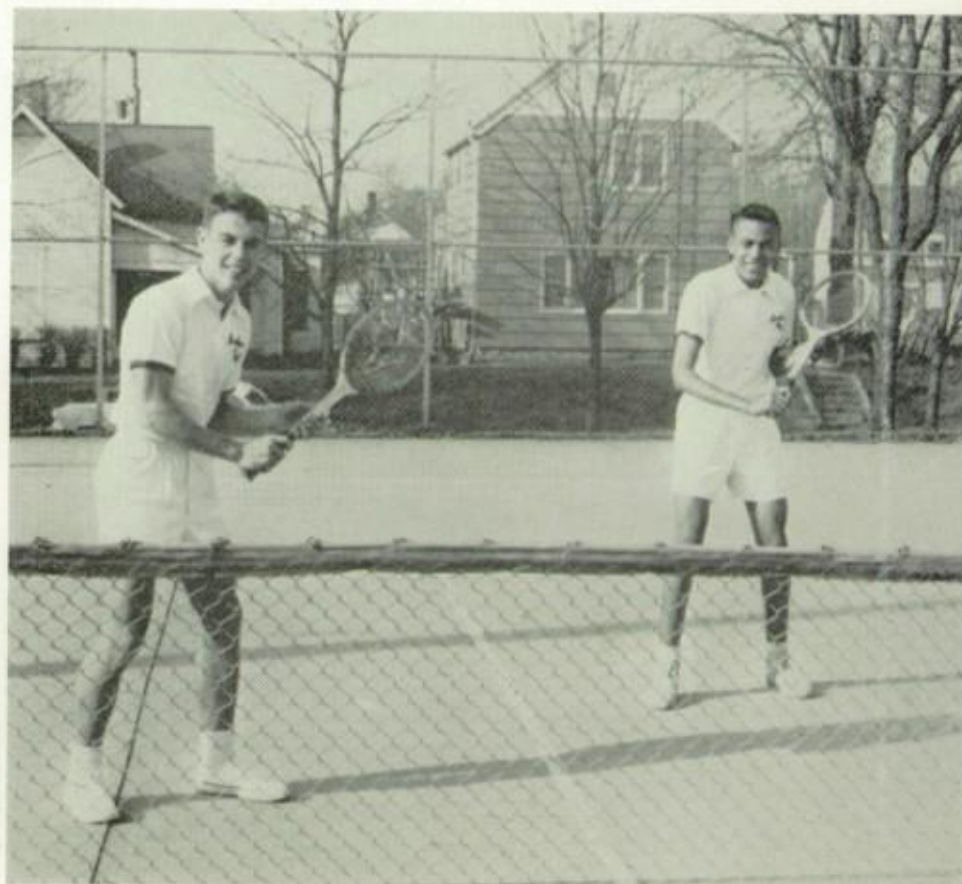

Early season starters were Chuck Lowe, Jim Minnefield, Jerry Coon, Chuck Shaffer, and Dwight Aldred.

Last year the Indians won 10 of 13 meets, including 6 of 8 North Central Conference matches. They finished third in the N.C.C. Since Coach Pugh took over in 1950, the Tribe has achieved three championships in 1950, '54 and '55, two seconds, and two thirds.

With eight of Anderson's first nine golfers lost through graduation and enrollment at adjoining township schools, Coach Jim Carter and his only returning letterman, Joe Niece, had their work cut out for them.

Surprisingly, the team won three matches and tied three in its first six outings. Backing up Niece were Larry Ballinger, John McGuire, Mike Cummings, Tom Williams, and John Hensler.

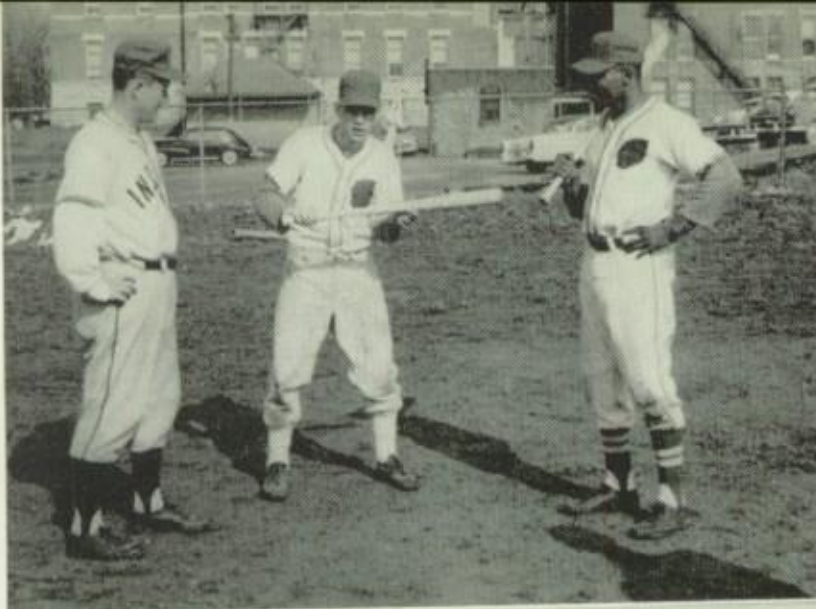

The Indians had tradition on their side for the big meets, because they have dominated conference and state tourney play for five years. In that stretch, they won three state and four conference titles.

Defending NCC Titlists

Anderson High School's baseball Indians, defending North Central Conference champions, had to battle the elements as well as opposing teams in one of the rainiest springs experienced in our city.

Although competition with most conference foes was yet to come, the squad, in long outdoor workouts and early season exhibition games, made a good impression upon Coach Don Barnett and his assistant Pete Russo.

Anderson opened the season with a 4 to 0 shutout of Madison Heights. Applying the elbow grease were Norm Delph and Don Furnish, two pitchers Coach Barnett counted on for many victories. The team's record stood at five victories and two losses at press time.

The conference crown was won in 1956 when the Indians took eight of nine decisions. The overall mark was 11 victories and 2 losses.

The Indians' double play combination, Tom Linville and John Teague, gets the force play at second, and Teague wheels to throw to first base to complete a double play.

Jim Stringer and Marvin Whitaker wait their turns while Cecil Robinson heaves the shot put better than 40 feet.

Waiting for the gun, Paul Abshire, LeVaughn Binkley, and Fred Kingsbury, get set for one of the most gruelling races of all, the mile run.

Track Team Rallies from Early Rough Going

The 1957 AHS track team, held together by two lettermen, Nat Johnson and Mike Johnson, in the rough early going, suddenly found itself in mid-season and set its sights on a strong finish.

In the early season meets when victories came hard for the Tribe and new coach Bob Freeman, the two Johnsons scored most of the points.

Pole vaulters Phil Sullivan and Mike Johnson measure the effort required to clear the bar. Johnson cleared better than 13 feet in his first meet, the Hoosier Relays.

Mike vaulted 13'3/4", the top indoor mark of 1957, and 13 feet outdoors, the best at press time in the state. Nat was almost unbeatable in the high hurdles and added points in the dashes.

Other runners began to come to life after the 79 to 30 rout of Marion, as they gained experience and conditioning for the late season drive.

Barry Atkinson and Nat Johnson get advice on hurdling from Head Coach Bob Freeman, who was a high school and college hurdling star. Johnson won his first two hurdle races in the opening season meets and was one of the Tribe's top point getters all season.

Advertising

The decrease in Anderson High School's enrollment made little impression on the businesses in the community. The important relationship between the students and local industries and business remains a two-way proposition. The students are providing many sales for the local business; in turn, the merchants are helping the students reach their necessary financial balance.

Advertising provides an essential phase of communication—wherein the advertiser may describe and sell his product, and, as a result, the reader is saved much time in his decision in buying. Thus, a close bond exists between the community's business and industry and the 1957 Indian advertising section.

Students scrambled with the rest of the community.

A MESSAGE TO YOUNG PEOPLE and Parents FROM A GREAT AMERICAN

" today's exciting era of rapid discovery and almost unbelievable technological progress offers young people with inquisitive minds—and a good education—scores of richly rewarding opportunities that were not even dreamt of in my youth.

"One Thomas Edison in a generation is no longer enough to sustain our kind of progress—today we literally need thousands of well-trained young people with the kind of vision, imagination and courage that took Edison on his lifelong conquest of the unknown.

"This is why I am constantly urging boys and girls to go on to as full an education as possible—not only in science and engineering, but in the arts, the social sciences, the humanities or any other field that fits their talents. . . ."
